'Odorous Bayshore Cargo'

By FRANK LaPIERRE
Post-Times Writer

A fleet of shiny new semi-tractor-trailer trucks will be moving along the Bayshore Freeway between San Francisco and Mountain View carrying what some San Mateo County officials call "an odorous cargo."

The "cargo" will be garbage and the trucks are specially designed to seal in the odor while they pass through cities en route to the new dumpsite in Mountain View—some 35 miles from the new $2.1 million Sunset Scavenger Company transfer station now under construction near Candlestick Park.

Operations at the Mountain View site will start in October, about the same time the huge transfer station will be completed, according to scavenger president Leonard Stefanelli.

The transfer station itself is revolutionary in both concept and design and could, company officials optimistically predict, not only facilitate disposal of San Francisco's 1800 tons of daily garbage, but also handle all of the North County's solid waste as well.

What turns off some San Mateo County officials concerned with the disposal problem, however, is the $6.50 per ton price tag the scavenger company has tacked on to the disposal rate.

Here's how the transfer station works:

Collection trucks pick up refuse along their assigned routes and bring it to the transfer station where it is dumped into a huge hopper capable of holding some 6,500 cubic yards of refuse.

By using the latest in electronic equipment—such as closed-circuit television—the dispatcher at the station can direct trucks to various dump points around the hopper, Stefanelli explained to Daly City officials recently.

The entire operation is housed in a 200-foot long enclosed structure capable of handling some 110 trucks each hour.

Once the hopper is full, the large semi-trucks pull beneath the hoppers and are fed a payload of 23 tons of refuse (145 cubic yards) into four sealed compartments.

Stefanelli has scheduled between 90 and 100 shuttle trips per day between the transfer station and Mountain View. The trucks can be loaded in less than ten minutes and on their way down the freeway using the Candlestick Park on ramps.

At the Mountain View dumpsite, which replaces the Brisbane dumping ground at Sierra Point, the semi-trucks "sidedump" their cargo at a flick of a switch.

"We investigated many ideas and concepts before coming up with this sidedumping model," Stefanelli said. "What sold us was the sidedumping truck can quickly unload without the help of another vehicle."

The scavenger company also designed the transfer station for possible future "add ons," such as a recycling plant ("We used to call it 'salvage' ") and an incinerator tie on. If they ever come up with an incinerator that meets our needs and pollution standards."

A magnetic field that will literally pluck ferrous metals from the refuse may also be built in if federal funds are forthcoming, the scavenger president said.

Meanwhile, dumping at the controversial Brisbane site goes on—at least until October when San Francisco and, possibly, some North County cities will began exporting their garbage for the next five years to Mountain View.

After that?

"We might dump at Marsh Road or even Ox Mountain," Stefanelli ventured.

Sparks Over A Pipe Fence In Westlake

Daly City councilman Frank Pacelli came to the aid of the Westlake Subdivision Improvement Association during a "fencing match" Monday night.

Z. S. Goldenberg, armed with photos and communications between himself and WSIA president Anthony Zidich, appealed to the city council to hold a roundtable discussion with himself, police and Zidich preferably at 89 Lakeview Drive—scene of the vandalism.

The perplexed Goldenberg said he has constructed a pipe-concrete barricade to thwart any further attempts to cut across his lawn by either intentional motorists or wayward cars.

But the WSIA has a standing policy discouraging the practice of frontyard fence construction and Goldenberg appealed to the city for a ruling.

He told Mayor Bernard (Bud) Lycett and his board that complaints filed with the police department on several past incidents had produced no definite results, although police had politely taken the complaints and on one occasion had provided a "radar stakeout" of the neighborhood in an effort to snare speeders.

Goldenberg answered councilman Louis J. Papan that he was

D.C. Board's Members Are Reappointed

The Daly City Council Monday reappointed three commissioners to the Planning and Library boards

Included in the appointments were Sarah Kelechava who has been on the Library Board of Trustees for the past ten years. Her appointment is for three years.

Atty. Paul Hupf was likewise reappointed to the Library Board for a full three-year term.

Leonard Brown was reappointed to the Planning Commission.

In other action the council:

—Filed requests for legislative endorsements from San Carlos regarding deletion tf the proposed Bayfront Freeway from the County Master Plan; City of Signal Hill regarding adoption of Senate Bills 966 and 967, and; South San Francisco, concerning proposed noise standards for state airports. The latter was filed without comment.

—Authorized execution of a contract with the Peninsula Library System which will establish the system tying in several cities. A person would have access to library material from any one of the member libraries once the system is fully established.

—Second reading of Ordinance 708 raising the salary of the city clerk from $900 to $1,000 per month.

—Tabled for further study re-

A McDonald's Disapproved In San Bruno

A McDonald's restaurant earlier approved by San Bruno Planning commissioners Monday night was rejected by the city councilmen on a split vote.

Councilman Dick Griffith made the motion for denial after Councilman Ted Long expressed ecological reasons he was opposed to the establishment.

Long said he was "moved by the economic potential" the business would bring to the city, including job possiblities for San Bruno residents.

"But they (McDonald's) use packaging devices I'm opposed to. Their contribution to just plain waste to our society puts me against it," said Long, to loud applause.

Long, who incidentally seconded Griffith's motion, was quick to point out that he had no doubt McDonald's was a good business operation and that they offered a desirable plan. Then

A 'Calm, Smiling' Man Robs S.S.F. Bank Of Over $3,700

A man described as "calm and smiling" held up a Wells Fargo Bank branch in South San Francisco about noon Monday and walked out with $3,721 in cash in a paper bag.

Police said a man entered the branch at 205 Kenwood Way and presented a note to teller Nancy Jacobs. The note, hand printed, said, "Hand me all the money."

According to police, the man, described as "Latin type," possibly 30, shabbily dressed in a light-colored sports jacket and wearing dark rimmed sunglasses, told the teller to walk to the back of the bank after he received the money. The 5-foot-8 medium built man, at the time the teller was reading the note, opened the left side of his jacket and displayed a pistol. Police said the weapon remained hidden.

Once the man had his bag filled, he "calmly walked out and disappeared around the corner," according to the police. The few persons in the bank at the time were not aware a robbery was in progress.

Although the police were on the scene minutes after the robbery occurred, the suspect was gone.

SF Ambulance Firm Won't Get Permits

Ambulance services now operating in Daly City are fulfilling the needs of the community the City Council declared Monday in denying application for additional permits requested by the San Francisco Ambulance Company.

The San Francisco-based company had asked the city for two permits to operate its special coronary care units in Daly City.

Councilman McRobert Stewart lauded the presentation the company gave at an earlier meeting on the matter, but made the motion to deny the request.

The permits hinged on the services the new coronary care units would provide, which include mobile radio communications system between the unit and "anywhere there is a telephone," electrocardiogram machine and defibrilator, plus highly trained personnel to operate this equipment.

Mercy Ambulance Company owner Kevin McDonald informed the council last month he did not oppose the added ambulance permits, however the new coronary equipment was also scheduled to be installed in two of his vehicles operating in the city.

Following Monday's council meeting McDonald, owner of both the Mercy and Peninsula

Pact On Work Conditions In San Bruno

By BOB PETERSON
Post-Times Writer

Agreement on working conditions for the next fiscal year was reached Monday between the City of San Bruno and its public works employes, in the form of a "memorandum of understanding." The memorandum lists ten terms and conditions of employment. They include:

1. A five step monthly wage scale for seven positions. The laborer goes from a low of $582 to a high of $706. The next three positions—public works utilityman, park utilityman and water serviceman—go from a low of $635 to a high of $772. Two other positions—senior street sweeper operator and traffic control painter—start with a low of $666 to a high of $810. The equipment mechanic position begins with $699 and goes to a high of $849.

2. Both the union (Council 57 of the AFSCME, AFL-CIO) and the city will conduct a study and make recommendations by January 1, 1971, on classifications, including considering automatic movement from laborer to utilityman.

3. The city is to pay $2 toward the first dependent of an employe for health insurance premiums.

4. A dental plan and income protection plan will be included for consideration in the 1971-72 study budget.

5. The city will pay 60 days continuous salary to employes for job-connected disability, renewable subject to examination by a city-named doctor in 6-day increments for a period of a year. No sick leave of an employe is to be charged towards salary costs.

6. Employe vacations will be modified to offer 15 working days after the fifth year of em-

D.C. Firemen Seek Audit, Overtime Pay

Attorneys for the Daly City Fire Fighters Local Union 1879, I.A.F.F., have demanded the city pay firemen who worked 138 shifts in the 1968-69 year 24 hours overtime.

In a four point demand, attorney Alan C. Davis, of Davis, Cowell and Bowe, also asked the City Council to order an audit of the Fire Department work schedule on either an annual or semi-annual basis—outside the city administration.

The third matter Davis insisted be cleared up was to make the audit results available to the president of the local union.

City Manager David Rowe explained the rather complex eight-day cycle scheduling the firemen work under during a full year and informed the council that the recent contract agreed upon between the union and city cleared up "at least two points."

"Some items have been resolved between the city and firemen," Rowe said.

Specifically, items concerning auditing of the work schedule and making this audit available to the local union president had been settled.

The letter was written on June 26, 1970, and the agree-

Court Fight Shaping Up

$100,000 Willed Veterinarian By Animal Lover

A fight is shaping up in Superior Court in Redwood City over the $100,000 estate of a Colma animal lover who willed the property to her favorite veterinarian.

To Mrs. Edna Joyce Piazza of 115 Garden Lane the well-being of animals — any animals she happened to see, hear about or otherwise encounter — seemed to be an obsession.

"She was always bringing cats and dogs to me," recalls the veterinarian, Wendell L. Kanawyer, who operates a San Francisco pet hospital. "Sometimes she would bring in as many as 15 or 20 in a single day.

"They weren't all hers, of course. And I suspect they weren't all strays, either. She made friends with lots of people and she always inquired about their pets. She saw to it in many cases that they were fed and watered and had the proper medical attention.

"I knew of cases where she went out in the street and stopped traffic to snatch an injured animal off of the roadway. It happened more than once.

"Most of the animals she brought to me needed attention but some were all right. She just wanted to be sure.

"I know that she bought food and took it to homes where she felt the pets were not getting enough to eat."

Mrs. Piazza died May 6, at the age of 78, in Agnews State Hospital.

Her will, filed for probate in the Redwood City court, bequeathed all cash — a total of $3,500 — to her lawyer, Molly H. Minudri, and left the remainder of her estate to Dr. Kanawyer "in reward for his many kindnesses to me and assistance in my humane work in behalf of animals." The petition for probate listed assets including two flats, a grocery store and three apartments in San Francisco, in addition to the Colma residence.

In the will Mrs. Piazza stated that she was an only child, had no children of her own and was a widow. She specifically disinherited any person claiming to be an heir.

"I particularly order and direct that neither my sister-in-law, Mrs. George Ziegler, nor my brother-in-law, Andrew Piazza, receive any benefit from my estate," the will states.

Now Mrs. Ziegler, Andrew Piazza and Dominic Piazza, listing themselves as siblings of Mrs. Piazza's late husband, Samuel, have filed a contest of the will and an opposition to its admission into probate. They assert in the court document that Mrs. Piazza was "physically and mentally debilitated" and that the will was the result of "undue influence" exerted by Kanawyer. Court hearing on the contest has been scheduled for September 23.

The veterinarian says he never visited Mrs. Piazza's home and knew her only through her visits to his office.

"She did her work very quietly," Kanawyer recalls. "She frowned on any fanfare or publicity and was a completely selfless person. I didn't even know her real name."

Dr. Kanawyer said the woman was known to him as Edna Royce and he was not aware of her true name until after her death and he learned that he was chief beneficiary under her will.

ployment and 20 working days after the 15th year.

7. The city will provide a half-day holiday for Good Friday beginning at mid-shift. Those employes failing to work the first four hours will not receive holiday time.

8. Wages in the higher classifications will be paid to an employe temporarily assigned out of his normal classification, excluding utilityman. This applies after the first eight hours with assignment being made by the superintendent of public works, subject to approval of the department head.

9. A day off will be provided in the following summer for each day an employe is required to stand by on the day a holiday is observed.

10. The "living-radius" restriction will be changed from a mileage determinant to a time concept of 15 minutes to the corporation yard. The superintendent of public works has the authority to modify this time based on an individual request, up to 20 minutes.

Agreement comes after a long negotiating process that included a threat of strike.

Union representative Phil Murphy was in the process of seeking strike sanction through the San Mateo Labor Council when he and Acting City Manager Leo Van Dusen met to iron out problems of the wage scale.

Council 57 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes was only recognized by the city in June, after twice being turned down by councilmen when the union attempted to represent all employes.

As it is, the AFSCME represents the city's street, water, sanitation and park departments.

Following last night's meeting Mayor Neil Christal announced a budget study session for 7:30 p.m. Wednesday night that will include negotiations with the city's firemen.

This group, also a new union, affiliated with the International Association of Fire Fighters, was on the verge of reaching agreement with the city nearly a month ago.

Also holding out, but not scheduled to meet Wednesday night, are the city's policemen, another recently formed union.

In a matter unrelated to the negotiations or the agreement reached last night, councilmen on a split vote denied a request of Council 57 to have the city deduct union dues from paychecks.

Councilman Maurice Hamilton made the motiont o deny the request on the grounds that the check making machine in city hall was was not equipped to perform such a function. "We shouldn't utilize city staff to collect dues for Council 57," said Hamilton.

Councilman Dick Griffith said he didn't think it was an unreasonable request. "It is common to deduct dues from checks," said Griffith.

Siding with Griffith was Councilman George Corey. Councilman Ted Long agreed with Hamilton, as did Mayor Neil Christal, the deciding vote.

ambulance companies said at least three of his eight ambulances would feature the heart machines — two in Daly City and one in Redwood City.

Each heart unit in McDonald's fleet will cost some $4,600 to modify and will be able to transport patients to any hospital that has a receiver installed.

To date only Childrens', Mt. Zion and Presbyterian hospitals have the special receiver equipment needed. Both the University of California Medical Center and Mary's Help Hospital have plans for the receivers.

Within a year, McDonald believes doctors will have a wide choice of hospitals to send their patients to, utilizing the heart ambulances.

McDonald said a flick of a switch will allow the units to immediately come into direct contact with the hospitals his ambulances are en route to with a possible heart attack victim.

The vote to deny San Francisco Ambulance company permits was unanimous.

ment was signed earlier this month, it was pointed out.

Both Rowe and city attorney Albert Polonsky deemed the two other demands as "claims for money" and recommended they be denied.

The council agreed and voted unanimously to deny the matter.

A McDonald's Disapproved In San Bruno

added, "We've accepted too many very desirable projects."

The third vote for denial came from Councilman Maurice Hamilton, for different reasons. He said he was opposed to the project because he felt it was to be located on the wrong site, next to a narrow street.

Hamilton also indicated the restaurant at that location would be "detrimental to health, safety and welfare to the community completely surrounding it." This "community" incidentally, flooded the councilmen with petitions of protest.

Councilman George Corey appeared as the lone supporter of the facility, as Mayor Neil Christal fell back on the Roberts Rules of Order procedure, where the mayor votes only to break a tie.

"I'm not satisfied this is a bad location," said Corey, who had attempted to obtain an extension of time for a traffic study before making a decision. His motion died for lack of a second. "Except for traffic, the residents have no complaint," said Corey.

The planning commissioners in a 4-1 decision granted the use permit for the restaurant on May 4. Location was the southeast corner of El Camino Real and San Diego Avenue.

That's when the petitions began. One of the main protestors and petition gatherers was Leo Jacques of 165 Santa Maria Avenue. During the hearing he submitted another petition. This one contained names of business owners and operators in the area.

And when McDonald's representative Dick Slater submitted a petition of some 300 names of San Bruno residents (outside the immediate area of the new facility) Jacques commented, "They (petition signers favoring the restaurant)should definitely have one—and put it in their neighborhood."

Opposition to the project also came from the San Bruno Chamber of Commerce, based only on it being in an undesireable location where serious traffic problems could arise.

Slater apparently sensed trouble. When he appeared to make his case he said he was "uncertain as to how to respond."

The representative cited the planning commission's determination that it "was a logical plan." He also said there appeared to be a difference of opinion as to the definition of a drive-in.

"This is different than the conventional drive-in," said Slater. "There are no car hops, juke boxes or telephones." He pointed out the structure would not be the well-known "golden arches" design and would provide adequate parking.

"It is not a capricious project," said Slater. "Over all cost will exceed $300,000 including land. The cost of the building and construction is $125,000 and equipment $58,000. It will create approximately 30 new jobs in San Bruno."

Slater also noted his disappointment that he was not afforded the opportunity to explain his position to the chamber.

Arm Broken In Struggle

A Pacifica printing company employe suffered a broken left arm during a struggle with Daly City police early Saturday morning.

Accoring to Police Officers Ken Cole and Bob Bogt the arm of Steve Fasano, 19, 100 Anza Avenue, Pacifica, was accidently broken when he tried to interfere with the arrest of an 18-year-old male companion at a Serramonte Shopping Center restaurant about 3 a.m. Saturday.

The manager of the restaurant called police after Fasano and Richard Verrett, 643 Myrtle Street, South San Francisco, caused a disturbance at the establishment.

As the officers were placing Verrett into a police car to transport him to City Jail, Fasano allegedly tried to rescue the suspect and received a broken arm in the ensuing struggle.

The pair were booked on charges of disturbing the peace and resisting arrest. Both were later released on bail.

Fasano was treated at San Mateo County Hospital, police said.

unable to discern whether the cars actually sped across his lawn intentionally or accidently, but he did understand one thing: "If they run across those pipes they'll know they hit something."

As to the legality of the front fence, Goldenberg was informed by city manager David Rowe that city ordinances do not prevent posts or a four-foot fence, across a front lot.

It was quickly pointed out that the fence ruling was a WSIA bylaw and property owners understood this when they purchase a home in Westlake.

Pacelli came to the defense of the WSIA after Goldenberg assailed Zidich and the association for what he called "passing the buck" on the fence restrictions and tire tracks on his lawn and sidewalk.

The councilman, himself a resident of the area, said the association has tried to maintain areas by keeping them uniform.

"In this way they (the WSIA) helps keep values up on your property and others in the Westlake area,' 'Pacelli said, adding, "I think a fence would deteriorate from such attempts."

Pacelli felt Goldenberg was the victim of harassment and said while he felt the matter was a police problem "a policeman can't possibly be stationed (near your home) 24 hours a day."

Former WSIA director and recently elected councilman, McRobert Stewart, agreed with Pacelli on the matter being a police problem — not a council problem.

New Approach Is Urged For D.C. Chamber

Daly City-Colma Chamber of Commerce manager Peter J Markovich, in his first meeting since suffering a heart attack two months ago, urged chamber directors to "fight for county services" in Daly City.

But director Elio Fontana suggested a new approach to dealing with the county supervisors be tried.

He said future approaches to the county should be made "on a business basis and not from a continued antagonistic point of view."

"It's up to us to cultivate new methods (of discussions with the supervisors)" Fontana said.

Attorney Paul Hupf agreed and noted it would do no good to "sing the same song that we have for so many years."

Marokvich said he could not understand why the county would spend considerable sums of money to purchase building sites in South San Francisco and Half Moon Bay for facilities and overlook the choice building lots adjacent to the Daly City Civic Center.

Merchants along Mission Street, for example, are up in arms over the county's decision to shut down the municipal court on Wellington Avenue, Markovich said.

The courthouse meant more shopper traffic in the area and it was a first step in upgrading the entire shopping street, he pointed out.

Moreover, the county and city had expended money to re-route traffic, install meters and refurbish the old city hall, Markovich informed the directors.

The directors agreed that it would be desirable to retain the court house and also expand county services in Daly City, however both Fontana and Hupf felt a new approach was needed in future discussions on the matter with the Board of Supervisors.

THE NATIONAL GUARD came to the rescue of Pacifica's Ecology Action group Saturday, when Lt. Col. J. Sandman (center, above) and Major P. Howard (left, above) took four trucks and nine guardsmen (Headquarters Battery, 3d Btn., 143 Field Artillery, 49th Brigade, San Mateo) to Pacifica to load up the tons of newspapers, glass bottles and aluminum cans and took them to recycling plants. Councilwoman Grace McCarthy (right, above) adds her contributions of flattened cardboard boxes to the pile. Below, Major Howard and other Guardsmen load truck as the ecology action team, led by Mary McClure (lower photo) emptied storehouse and garage of recent collections as part of the group's ambition to "clean up Pacifica." Accepted each Saturday at the Pedro Point driving range are tied newspapers and magazines, flattened aluminum and tin cans, glass bottles and flattened cardboard.

Removal Of Courthouse Is Protested

Vincent Merlo, president of the Daly City Mission Merchant's Association, has voiced strong protests on behalf of his organization over proposed removal of the municipal courthouse on Wellington Avenue.

In a letter to the County Board of Supervisors, Merlo said he hoped the supervisors would reconsider their decision to withdraw the court services from the North County city.

"We feel Daly City is being sadly neglected," Merlo said.

He said Daly City is the county's second largest city and the present services being given are extremely limited.

The Association predicted local merchants along Mission Street and in the general area of the courthouse will suffer added revenue losses because of the supervisors' decision.

Last month the Board in a split 4-1 vote (only supervisor Robert St. Clair opposed the move) decided to order the court back to South San Francisco.

The supervisors said they felt the expense of running the Daly City branch muni court far outweighed any services the people were getting for thec money.

Merlo disagreed and said the Wellington Avenue facility was close to public transportation while the South San Francisco courts are not.

"Many people must take a cab or wait for a bus which passes only every half hour," according to Merlo.

The association offices have received many calls on the matter, Merlo said.

Pacifica Man Held In Extortion Try

An unemployed Pacifica barber has been arraigned before the United States Commissioner in San Francisco on charges of attempting to extort money from United Air Lines to bail two friends out of San Mateo County jail.

The FBI and the San Mateo County sheriff's office said that the suspect, Terrance Lee Greenfield, 23, threatened to blow up an aircraft in mid-flight if the airlines didn't post bail to free Ray Young and Donna M. Brown from the county.

Sheriff's Capt. Eugene Stewart said the request for the money was one of four demands contained in a two-page letter received Tuesday by National Air Lines at San Francisco International Airport.

Not only were Young and Mrs. Brown, both of Redwood City, to be released from jail, but they were to be supplied with a 1970 model automobile which was to have $500 in $20 bills in the glove compartment, a five-day reservation was to be made for them at a Palo Alto motel, no one was to accompany the couple and there was to be no release to the news media.

Stewart assigned Sheriff's Sgt. Richard Drivon to participate in the investigation with the FBI.

Greenfield was placed under surveillance after it was determined that he had been a cellmate of Young in county jail before being released June 28 after serving a term for petty theft, Stewart said.

The arrest came Thursday afternoon following a number of telephone calls to United Air Lines by the letter writer seeking to arrange the bail. Greenfield was picked up by FBI agents as he emerged from a Pacifica telephone booth.

Young, 45, of 3426 Rolison Road, is being held in county jail on charges of burglary and escape. He was arrested on the burglary charge last October by Redwood City police. He escaped from County General Hospital where he had been taken for treatment on October 28, remaining free until apprehended in San Diego and returned to San Mateo County last May 8.

Mrs. Brown, 37, of the same address as Young, is held on a charge of passing fictitious checks.

In the unsigned letter, the "highest supervisor" of United Air Lines was directed to approve the bail fund "if you wish to avert a United States (sic) airplane being blown apart in mid-flight."

The letter emphasized that the demands were "not a crank, but a calculated, sophisticated operation."

"We consider human life to be the cheapest commodity on earth," the letter stated at one point.

At another point, the letter writer threatened to "Blow off a bomb of considerable magnitude" in a public place with the probable loss of several lives.

Mr. McLennan is retiring as chief security officer for the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, a position he has held for the past thirty years, and will devote full time to handling the business of the chamber, promoting its growth, attracting new business and industry to Brisbane and in general, improving the image of the city of Brisbane.

Property Owner Battling S.S.F. Storm Drain Plan

By BOB PETERSON
Post-Times Writer

Property owner Walter I. Amos is still fighting—at least until Friday—a South San Francisco council decision to begin the South Maple Avenue-South Canal Street relief pump and storm drain project.

Councilmen, because of Amos, put a four-day moratorium on a resolution directing the filing of eminent domain proceedings on a 5-by-60-foot piece of property needed as a construction easement.

During this period Amos is supposed to meet with City Attorney John Noonan for the purpose of reviewing Amos' lease to determine whether an easement fee of $500 offered by the city is adequate.

Amos led the recent opposition by the more than 75 per cent affected property owners unsuccessfully protesting the assessment district at the June 15 council meeting.

At that time the councilmen overruled the protests by a four-fifths (actually unanimous) vote as required by law.

Although having no illusion of completely preventing the construction, Amos Monday afternoon sought to obtain more financial reimbursement for the temporary construction easement.

He felt the figure should be five times that amount — in his words, "2½ thousand for this easement and things can be worked out satisfactorily."

Amos contends the construction not only will not increase property value, but will in fact decrease it. He told the councilmen also that the tenants on his property are upset and prepared to join together and seek legal aid. Amos said the $2,500 would pacify them.

"Unless you have a satisfactory easement there will be friction," cautioned Amos. "This is just a fact."

According to Director of Public Works Lou Goss, the temporary construction easement will mean one driveway will be closed for a period of four or five months. He said, however, there are four other driveways on the property for adequate access.

As to detracting from the property value, Goss said the site being an industrial area there is nothing to really detract from, adding the pump site will be "a very neat installation."

Goss also pointed out to the councilmen that if the project is held up any length of time, the contractor could ask the city for damages.

Entrepreneur Buzz Haskins, sitting in the audience, said specifically it was his intention to file a legal action against the city regarding the assessment district. He called it "unwarranted, unjustified and unnecessary at this time," and said it was his opinion the entire area had been assessed adequately.

City Atty. John Noonan said the city should get some real estate advice before the councilmen took any action to change the original $500 offer.

Prisoner In Leg Irons Escapes

Authorities searched on Thursday for a young Daly City prisoner who pulled off a Houdini escape from County General Hospital in San Mateo just before midnight.

Guards said he was wearing leg irons, was chained to his bed and was in a locked room.

The escape artist was identified as Carlos A. Rosete, 20-year-old mechanic of 6151 Mission Street, who was in the hospital awaiting a tonsillectomy.

Rosete's escape was discovered by Art Shoemaker, a private guard, who reported that he found the room empty when he reported for work at 11:45 p.m. Sheriff's Sgt. John Gaspari said the rooms where prisoners are kept at the hospital are supposed to be checked every 15 minutes. When last seen, Gaspari said, Rosete was wearing leg irons and was chained to his bed. It appeared, the officer said, that the prisoner got loose from the chains somehow and kicked out a window screen. It was assumed that he was still wearing the leg irons.

Rosete started serving a one-year county jail sentence for possession of stolen property on May 2.

Area Boy Scouts, Explorers Going To Camp

Sixteen Boy Scouts and Explorers from this area will leave July 26 for a high adventure trip in the mountains of Philmont Scout Ranch and Explorer Base in northeastern New Mexico.

The group, representing the San Mateo County Council, Boy Scouts of America, will travel to Albuquerque, New Mexico and will visit Sante Fe, New Mexico before arriving at Philmont, according to William H. Hughes, project chairman.

Leaders of the contingent are: R. Gene Reagan, director of Support Services of the San Mateo County Boy Scout Council, James Fosberg, Sr. of South San Francisco and Herbert Naylor of San Mateo.

At the 214-square mile ranch, the expedition will meet their ranger who will lead and train them on the trails for the first 3 days of their 10-day wilderness trek.

The boys will be among the 17,000 other scouts who will meet the Philmont challenge this summer, Hughes said.

Area boys going include: Troop 137, Byron Nevins, Jr., Daly City; Troop 141, James R. Buhs, Millbrae; Troop 179, James Freitas, Brad Stookey, South San Francisco.

Vocational Ed Expanded

The 1970-71 Jefferson Union High School district allocation of $62,000 for vocational education points to an increasing interest in providing students with employable, salable skills.

Bernard Norton, the coordinator of less than a year, said the district's vocational education efforts have been expanded significantly in 1970.

The district's approach is "functional," Norton said.

In 1968-69, the district offered instruction in office occupations, general work experience education, in vocational work experience education. In 1969, Jefferson added consumer-homemaking education, vocational guidance for the disadvantaged, and regional offerings such as air transportation, key punch training, "recreational leader" and computer technology.

In 1970 came distributive education, auto mechanics, food education and service training (FEAST), cosmetology (Skyline College), teleproductions, cooperative work experience education, work experience-greenhouse, emotionally handicapped and blind vocational guidance, exploratory work experience education and career guidance system-center.

CSM BUDGET

Trustees of San Mateo Junior College District got a glance at an even slimmer version of the district's proposed 1970-71 "bare bones" budget last night, but put off final adoption for another month. The new budget figure of $17,633,151 would allow the district to increase its reserve funds to $742,881 for the new fiscal year.

Fontana Retires From Jeff Board

By WILL E. THOMAS
Post City Editor

Last week's Jefferson High School District Board of Trustees meeting in Daly City "belonged" to Elio Fontana, attending his last session after 18 years' service as a trustee.

Fontana, first elected to the Jefferson High governing board in 1952, formally resigned last night, so that an election to fill the vacancy could be held in conjunction with the November 3 general election.

Until then, it will be a three-man, one-woman board. Soon after re-organization of the board, re-elected president Albert Teglia called upon Fontana to "honor us" by taking the president's chair and presiding over his "last meeting."

Fontana, who served as board chairman five years, later was moved to tears, when at the conclusion of the two-hour business session his colleagues formally moved to name the Jefferson High School football field and stadium the "Elio Fontana Stadium."

The resigned trustee is a Jefferson graduate.

Fontana recently was named to the board of trustees of the San Mateo Junior College District and the additional burden prompted his high school board resignation.

He resigned a month after presenting his son Mark with his high school diploma of graduation.

"What better way," Fontana declared last week, "to end my term with the high school district? Mark completes his 12 years of school and his father eighteen years on the board."

He said he resigned "with an extremely heavy heart," acknowledging the district to be "very dear to me."

Fontana served with two superintendents, the late Stanford Hannah and Edward Morgan, termed by Fontana as "undoubtedly one of the finest administrators in the state."

He said, "We are now at the apex of a new era in schools, and problems are beginning to fester itself within our high schools."

Fontana, whose term in 1952 began when there was one school, Jefferson, an enrollment of 1,089 and a budget of $440,000, recalled:

"I have seen the birth and growth of drugs, the growth of militancy, the growth of permissiveness and all the other changes 19 years have borne."

Yet, the district has a "strong positive side," Fontana declared.

"Our graduates have brought respect and dignity to our schools and to our area," he continued. "They have placed in a high position at the colleges and universities. Many of our graduates have become outstanding and successful citizens. All of our high schools have received the highest accreditation; all this the result of interest and concern by our administrators and faculty."

Every issue placed before the community has been approved, he pointed out.

He recalled that the tax rate in 1952 was 65 cents.

"This was increased to $2 and there it remained," he said.

"With it," he added, "we have been able to provide a good educational program, offer one of the finest salary schedules in California, provide the finest fringe benefit program in he state, construct five new high schools, which must be a growth unparalleled anywhere; all this in an area that is 'bedroom poor'."

Fontana said the district "remains the overwhelming choice" for teacher employment.

Trustees earlier accepted Fontana's recommendation for a "board philosophy."

"Many in America desperately want an education, not a worthless certificate from a progressive institution that does very little to provide intellectual growth and maturity," Fontana asserted.

The board's new "philosophy," as urged by Fontana:

"Education in American society is always instilled in democratic process and provides us with a number of freedoms . . . the freedom to teach, the freedom to learn and the freedom to argue (to dissent) peacefully.

"Where strong opinions prevail, consciously or unconsciously, because of a strong dedication to their thoughts, these freedoms can sometimes be overlooked. It is at this time when strong political positions are urged upon others, disregarding in total the rights and privileges of others or their ideas.

"The high school must remain a place to teach, to learn, to argue. It must not be a place where solely one philosophy or thought is indoctrinated at the expense of open discussion. In other words, our schools are non-political, must encourage rational study, and invite open discussion on great political questions, while at the same time affording the student the opoprtunity to participate and be represented in the democratic system."

D.C. Bank Income Up

First National Bank of Daly City reported net income of $60,723.67 in the first six months of this year ending June 30, Executive Vice President Frederick W. G. Mommer reported today.

This was equivalent to 43 cents a share — up from 11 cents for the same 1969 period.

Total resources of the bank as of June 30, were $22,143,156.7 million — a new high and up almost $3.5 million from 1969.

San Bruno Must Wait Year For Cable Television

San Bruno Cable TV is one year away, according to Mayor Neil J. Christal.

"This will not only disappoint San Bruno residents, but will mean anticipated revenue of $35,000 will not be available to reduce the expected city tax increase," said the mayor.

In efforts to clear up rumors and misstatements concerning the preparation for cable TV, the mayor has detailed steps P.G.&E. and Pacific Telephone Company must take before contractor Jerrold Electronics will install the system.

"The telephone company must convert approximately 1600 telephone poles for joint use with Jerrold Electronics," he explained. "P.G.&E. presently share some of these poles and must readjust their system to include proper placement of cables and raise light standards. This must be done first. Then fire alarm lines will have to be relocated," said the mayor.

Christal noted that trees must be trimmed before any work can begin. Pacific Telephone Company has estimated this work will cost $28,000. The cost will be shared by the city and the Pacific Telephone Company, and city procedure calls for soliciting bids to do the work.

"Conservative estimates by engineers call for four weeks for trimming trees, two weeks of P.G.&E. work, 20 weeks of Pacific Telephone and Telegraph work. Jerrold Electronics estimates it will then take them 13 weeks to install the cable TV line," said Mayor Christal.

This is a total of 39 weeks, presuming good weather and no delays, and does not count house connection time.

The contract negotiated by former city manager Gerard Vergeer also has two clauses that probably will delay reception of cable TV to residents much longer, according to Christal.

"The contract states the city will have to pay Jerrold Electronics for any delay which results in a standby position of their work," he explained.

"The contract also has a clause in it that states in effect any connections made to the cable line automatically terminates the agreement as to time of performance and Jerrold Electronics can legally make house connections at their convenience. This means cable TV subscribers must wait until the system is completed city-wide, instead of sectional service," said the mayor.

Task Force Works For Bond Passage

The Bond Election Committee on "Yes for Schools" for the Laguna Salada School District has organized into a working task force to promote passage of the $2½ million bond issue scheduled for July 28.

Committee members have been meeting every Monday evening and are divided into four major sub-groups, speaking engagements, publicity, special events, and endorsements and finance.

The speaking engagements group is attempting to contact as many clubs and individuals as possible to arrange for speeches or discussions about the election.

Committee members are concentrating on koffee klatches, service clubs and other community organizations. Any group interested in having someone discuss the forthcoming election are urged to contact the district office.

The publicity committee has produced a two-page brochure to be circulated in the community. This group is also planning a video-tape informational program to be filmed and aired by Channel 8 via Pacifica Cable Company.

To arrange for informing the public about the election at all special events to be held within the boundaries of the Laguna Salada School District is the major aspect of the special events committee. This group also plans to contact as many voters as possible by telephone on election day.

John Munt, assistant superintendent in charge of business, for the school districts, heads the endorsements and finance committee, who will be soliciting public financial support from as many clubs and individuals as possible in order to pay the costs of the brochure and other expenses of the committee.

Approximately 30 members of the community have been attending the Monday evening meetings, chaired by Supt. Brien and Board Chairman Sidney Lorvan.

The July 28 election has two main purposes: The purchasing of a second school site in the Park Pacifica area and the building of a school for the trainable mentally retarded at the Pacific Heights School campus in San Bruno.

Four Cases Transferred

By order of the South San Francisco Municipal Court four North County cases have been turned over to the Superior Court in Redwood City.

Scheduled to appear July 16 are Jacinto Robledo, charged with attempted murder; Anthony Bova and Leonard Cearamintaro, both charged with burglary; and Edwin Brandenburgh, also charged with burglary.

Robledo was arrested May 28 by San Bruno police following an altercation at a San Bruno service station in which an attendent sustained a knife wound in the side.

Bova and Cearamintaro were arrested by South San Francisco police June 18 in connection with a burglary of a warehouse.

IT'S A FACT

By JACK WILSON

CRIME

Margaret Chase Smith says that Vietnam and Crime are the two major issues (not ecology).

Although six committees were working on things regarding crime, many things were not being covered. As a result Congress passed a "resolution creating a select House committee to investigate crime in the U.S." It was passed by a vote of 343 to 18. (Republicans 150 to 13, Democrats 193 to 5.) The three main things that this committee is to do is to study the following: 1. "Violence on college campuses which involves violation of the law; 2. Police complaints against Supreme Court rulings on the rights of accused persons; and, 3, Crime in the District of Columbia." The latter is the specific responsibility of Congress as Washington, D.C., is not within a state.

My opponent, Mr. McCloskey, was one of the 18 (or 5 %) congressmen who voted against this bill. Do you feel that he truly represented you? He has repeatedly voted on this and many other important issues with the minority of both parties. For example: Internal Security, H.R. 89, which passed 305 to 79; Campus riot funding withheld, H.R. 13111, passed 316 to 95; ABM Funding, H.R. 14000, passed 223 to 141; to cite a few.

If I am elected, I will not stop at asking what you want, as Mr. McCloskey does, but will do what you want done.

For your convenience, forced busing recall petitions will be in Space 125 of Wing A at the County Fair.

Charged In Burglary

A San Francisco man charged with burglary was arrested by South San Francisco police early Sunday morning in connection with theft of items from the South San Francisco Produce Terminal, more specifically the Sunset Produce Company.

Police said Carrol Mack Leard, 48, an employe of the company, was arrested after police staked out the terminal because of prior thefts.

COOKING UP A STORM — Natalie Kissil (left), Cindy Wilbur (center) and Fay Metaxas enjoy a cookie-baking session at the San Francisco YWCA at 620 Sutter Street. The girls are part of a group that come from all over the area (Cindy's from Daly City, Natalie from Noe Valley, and Fay from San Francisco's Richmond district) to take part in the YWCA's summer fun day every Wednesday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. The program includes crafts — basic techniques in corcheting, jewelry making, needlecrafts, mobiles, fun with food, recreational swim, and charm and self-improvement and is open to all girls 13-17. Louanne Heath's Datebook

DID YOU EVER HAVE THE YEN to travel to a foreign land? Two local college girls strongly advise you to follow your inclination. According to them all you need is a sense of adventure, a lot of enthusiasm, a pinch of resourcefulness and a moderately good car.

Noelle Camozzi and Robin Kramer, both Daly City girls who attend Skyline College, decided to limit their first taste of foreign travel to this continent so, immediately after their last finals, they gathered some rudimentary camp equipment — cooking utensils, sleeping bags, and a very sorry tent on loan from the navy — and began a trek that carried them up Interstate Highway 5 through Northern California, Oregon and Washington into Canada..

SINCE THIS WAS "AN ECONOMY TOUR" the pair split the expense of keeping Robin's slightly aged but well preserved Volkswagon "feed". Total cost of gasoline for the 2000 mile trip was under $50. Since the camp equipment was either loaned or given to them the two greatest expenses of such a trip were the cost of sightseeing tours and food. Since this pair of campers was eating "home cooking" they were able to enjoy a number of extras.

The first evening out of the bay area they camped in Ashland, Oregon and prepared to see a portion of the Shakespearean Festival but the tickets were all sold out.

Unable to see that attraction they detoured to the Oregon Caves, near Junction City, and became so involved in "oohing" and "aahing" that Noelle failed to duck and collided with a stalactite.

"She had to sit down until she got over being dizzy," Robin remembers laughingly, "but Noelle wasn't as badly upset as the young guide who was leading his first group through the caverns. He was far more frightened that were."

With Noelle's head still ringing slightly the two completed their second day at Silver Falls State Park.

"WE NEVER FELT LONESOME," Robin explained about their nights in camp. "Somehow the poles we had didn't fit the tent. We struggled and struggled that first night out until the camp manager came and offered a hand. Poor man! He worked himself into a terrible sweat before he conceded that the poles were just not right for our tent. From that point on we never failed to have at least one set of campers come by and offer to help us set our tent up right.

"One night, after we reached Canada, a very British gentleman kept walking back and forth along the road by our tent, watching us set up. Each time he would go by he'd make a clucking sound. Finally, he couldn't stand it any longer and he came up and said, "Tsk, Tsk, I do believe you ladies need a bit of help."

"That poor man worked forever trying to get that silly tent to stand up right. Finally, he asked if it were an American tent and when we told him it was he just nodded and walked off!"

The main reason for the trip to Vancouver was to visit Robin's sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brickley, and after stopping to admire the Olympia Brewery, touring Seattle and Olympia, the pair arrived at the Brickley residence for three days of visiting and sightseeing.

In Vancouver they were able to hear a medieval music concert in the new Vancouver Planetarium.

"It was all Teleman music, composed in the 15th and 16th century and played on recorders, lutes, baroque bass and violins and it was beautiful!" Robin recalls.

It was while they were being given a tour of Lighthouse Park by Kim Brickley that the two travelers had their only frightening moment on the trip. Somehow the trio managed to wander off the trail and become lost in the thick woods. They spent three hours looking for the trail to the lighthouse and never did manage to find that building. While they were beginning to feel some panic over being lost they decided that a strange noise coming from the brush nearby was a mountain lion.

"WE WERE STANDING THERE in a huddle, wondering what to do, run, scream or faint, when a huge grouse flew up rfom the spot we had been watching! I never saw a grouse before but I have never seen such a welcome isght in my life," Robin said in recounting the incident.

"We found our way to the edge of the park shortly after that and we were so glad to be out of the woods, literally, that we just decided to forget all about looking at the lighthouse," Robin said.

After leaving the Brinkley's the girls visited Mr. and Mrs. Eric Munzer, newly married and newly immigrated to Canada from Noelle's home town in Switzerland. After an overnight stay with the Munzers it was time to start home via Victoria, British Columbia.

Victoria was a joy to behold, according to the travelers and they spent three days shopping in delightful "touristy type places" where they purchase souvenirs and gifts for friends and family.

They saw the replicas of William Shakespeare's home, Chaucer lane and dined on "Tea and Crumpets" in a duplicate of Anne Hathoway's home. They visited the park near the parliment building and admired the elegant lamp posts and flowers which they felt was extremely fine example of city beautification. The girls toured Fable Cottage, the Old Empress Hotel, the famous music school, Butchart Gardens and the lush green and white avenues of the finer residential districts.

"CONSIDERING OUR LOPSIDED TENT was the only home we had at that point we felt we owed it to ourselves to at least admire the sublime while residing in the ridiculous" Robin explained.

Leaving Victoria they headed homeward with hopes of being able to enjoy a Shakespearean play when they reached Ashland, Oregon. But, luck was against them again and their second night in Ashland it rained buckets and all tickets were cancelled.

Coward's Wit, Satire Being Revived At Skyline College

Sir Noel Coward's renowned wit and staire has recently been undergoing a revival in modern theater and the Skyline College drama department has joined in performing the famous humorist's works.

"Hay Fever" written in 1925 by the recently knighted playwright will be presented in the Skyline College studio theatre two consecutive weekends—July 16, 17, 18, 23, 24 and 25.

Admission is students and children $1 and adults $1.50. The show will be performed arena of "in the round."

Director Richard Rohrbacher spoke about his impressions of Coward's workd.

"I have a great deal of respect for Noel Coward. In my opinion he is one of the best writers of situation comedy with a message.

"This particular play, as I see it, has to do with communications within an artistic family."

The bearded, Washington State University graduate brings a good deal of experience and insight to his directorial assignment having played the part of David previously.

"The style we're trying for is the unified style of English farce.

"In a comedy of this type you require a pace that is consistent with all the cast; that you have a unity of style within the cast so that everybody's doing pretty much the same thing as far as style of acting.

"This demands a rhythm; it demands that each member of the cast have an understanding of their part within the show itself.

"The hardest thing about putting a show together is to get the characters to play as an ensemble."

The fact that the cast will have had only three weeks of rehearsal before the show opens does not disturb Rohrbacher.

"It's a good cast and they're really grabbing hold."

Failure to exhibit love to those very close to us is tragedy many people face. frank Gilroy's sensational Broadway hit and Pulitzer Prize winning play, "The Subject Was Roses," is a dramatization of this dilemma.

Now people in the Bay Area may see this popular drama July 30, 31 and August 1, 6, 7 and 8 in the Skyline College studio theater.

Gilroy's intensive drama centers around a family changed by time and events. A son who goes away to war a pampered boy, comes back a man of his own. His parents cannot come to grips with the differences which have moved them apart. They want to love one another but it is impossible to communicate; they can no longer reconcile the dream and the reality.

Bob Bookbinder is cast as the father. He is an experienced actor with such credits as Cleante in "The Miser" and James Tyrone in "Long Day's Journey Into Night."

Diana Stone and Bobbie DeWeese are double-cast as the mother. Both are drama majors at Skyline and have previously acted in Skyline's spring productions of "The Importance of Being Ernest" and "Inherit the Wind."

Val Molkenbuhr II and Ross Liobnati are double-cast as the son. Val is a veteran of many drama productions including such shows as "Oh! What a Lovely War," "Little Foxes," "The Fantasticks," as well as "Inherit the Wind."

Ross Libonati made his acting debut in "Inherit the Wind' and now is accepting the challenge of his first major role .

The production is under the direction of Miss Josephine Cuerpo who is an instructor of English, Oral Interpretation and Drama at Skyline College. She has directed such outstanding shows as "Oklahoma" and "Oedipus Rex."

General admission is $1.50; students and children $1. Tickets will be sold at the studio theater door the night of the performances.

The Skyline College campus is located at 3300 College Drive, San Bruno.

'Catch 22': Imperfect But Potent

"Catch 22" as a film is no more like Joseph Heller's book than the rock tune about "Alice In Wonderland" is a reflection of the Lewis Carroll fantasy.

One suggested the other but when synthesized through the creative mind of director Mike Nichols, it came out a by-product that has its own point of view and emotional level.

There is no reason to compare the movie, version now playing at the Coronet Theater in S.F., with the novel because too many characters have been omitted, situations juxtaposed and action telescoped. I feel the result is brilliant, cinematically flawed (it's certainly presented plenty of grist for the critics' mill) but as a character study in fear and frustration, its a masterpiece.

'Catch 22' isn't a comedy. Quite the opposite. It swings from ridiculous to sublime but not in terms of petty or pretty images. Alan Arkin plays Everyman, in his gut, where panic and conscience propel his every thought, word and deed.

Some will see it as an anti-war message, others as a revue type, star studded, dry, black comedy with so many cameo appearances it puts M.A.S.H. in the shadows. Nicholas cut his teeth on absurd humor, inverted jokes, facile improvisations and much of that mars the impact here. But the film would be unbearable without its comic situations because the hysteria is so deeply, intensely channeled.

COMEDY IS ONLY A TECHNIQUE WITHIN THE FRAMEWORK of a deadly serious psychological dilemma: compromise and survival. Its fragmented, almost surrealistic recount of Yossarian (Arkin) who feels after 50 combat missions that death is his co-pilot and the only way to avoid annihilation is to stop flying and go home, or go somewhere. He suppresses a tortured, almost maniacal composure as he views the insanity of his situation (not the futility of war this time) with a clarity no one around him in the B-25 squadron seems to be tuned into.

The rest of the base addresses itself to the everyday programs, carrying out idiotic, orders of two greedy colonels (Martin Balsam and Buck Henry, who wrote the screenplay) while Yossarian makes passive protests against the graft, illogical orders, ironical decorations, unnecessary deaths, and rejects the horror of a cycle that has everyone stupidly obeying, like robots, the bizarre military process.

The casting is masterful. And where it resorts to caricature, it is Nicholas chancing visual image where time limits dialogue and the development of roles. Austin Pendleton and Orson Welles are obvious and cliched; but Bob Newhart, Art Garfunkel, Dick Benjamin, and Anthony Perkins as a recalcitrant, defenseless chaplain are excellent.

Jon Voight as Milo Minderbinder plays the essence of capitalistic evil: a soldier who profiteers by trading the units' silk parachutes for cotton, marshals the forces of Italian prostitutes, convinces the brass to give him full authority to bomb their own base in a trade deal with the Germans who'll buy his surplus goods. He's transformed into a dictatorial, murderous monster in the final scenes.

THE EXECUTION OF THE FILM IS IMPERFECT but the concept is admirable and effective. It doesn't imply easy answers or convenient analysis. You'll either love it or hate it. There couldn't have been a mass audience stance for the autobiographical account of World War II because Heller contends he was thinking ahead to a future war when he wrote it. Time and attitudes have conditioned it since then, even more so since Vietnam and what has happened in Cambodia since Nichols put the eight million dollar project together.

There are two horrifying moments that will send shivers of repulsion through the most hardened viewers. But two issues I stand strong on: Arkin is superb and the movie is impressive in scope and value.

Nichols may not have used consistently good judgment in some areas but he has struck out for personal committment and identity rather than slick style and if it isn't a 100 per cent success, he should be given the right to take risks in the search.

South City Pair Exchanges Vows

Four attendants preceded Roberta Marie Roccucci to the altar of All Souls Catholic Church in South San Francisco a week ago today where she was married to Robert Joseph Sciandri.

Roberta, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Renato Roccucci of South San Francisco, asked her sister, Renette Ann Roccuci, to be her maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Madeline Ruo, Shirley Pariani, and Pia Menicucci. They were dressed alike in floor-length blue Ottoman dresses with sleeveless Empire bodices appliqued with tiny flowers. They added Dior bows of matching Ottoman with circular veils.

Roberta wore a white organza dress appliqued with Venise lace. Her sleeveless bodice featured a Cameo neckline and her skirt cascaded into a full chapel train. Her veil was of imported illusion.

David Sciandri was best man for his cousin, and guests were seated by Michael Meloni, Louis Staffaroni, and David Parenti.

The couple received felicitations at a sitdown luncheon in the Pacifica Room of the Villa Hotel before departing on a wedding trip to southern California. They will live in South San Francisco.

Roberta attended Mercy High School and was graduated from the University of San Francisco. Robert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dante Sciandri of South San Francisco, attended South San Francisco High School.

Among wedding guests were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Roccucci, and Mrs. Amelia Bonturi, grandparents of the bride, and Mrs. Mary Palmieri, grandmother of the bridegroom.

SSF Council Wields Knife On Budget

By BOB PETERSON
Post-Times Writer

South San Francisco councilmen during last week's budget session were in a cutting mood. Suffering most under the economy knifing were the planning, city manager and park and recreation departments.

In the planning department, with a budget last year of $47,827 and a request this year for $57,428, the councilmen cut out a budgeted item of $2,000 for overtime pay to the assistant city planner.

Upon the insistence of City Planner Dan Pass that he either needed the overtime or another person to help with the work load, the councilmen agreed to increase the assistant city planner's salary by $500 as a means of reimbursing him for the extra hours he puts in.

Mayor Patrick Ahern particularly was against any overtime pay, contending that a person ought to be able to accomplish whatever work has to be done within the regular work day. He said budgeting overtime was precedent setting.

"Every department has an overtime account," said Asst. City Mgr. Larry Ross, who has been instrumental in putting the budget together.

Councilman William Borba said that he had been told during his campaign for office that he should "look into the overtime situation in the engineering department. They go around with nothing to do all week then want overtime on the weekend," said Borba. The engineering department this year has $2,150 budgeted for overtime.

Mayor Ahern stuck to his belief that overtime was necessary "only in an emergency," and pointed to the firemen as an example of an emergency situation. This group, incidentally overage $200 a month per man in overtime pay. Councilmen had no apparent qualms during a previous budget session in granting more than $20,000 for overtime pay this year to the firemen.

Next on the chopping block was Supt. of Parks and Recreation Bob Maxey.

A request of his for an assistant was squelched when Mayor Ahern brought out the fact that Maxey had been spending the first hour of the day, three days a week, teaching a class at San Francisco State College for one semester.

"It is hard to justify giving you another man under these conditions," said Ahern. Maxey explained that he would no longer be teaching as he was filling in while the regular instructor was on sabbatical.

According to Maxey his class began at 8 a.m. and he was at work by 9:30 a.m., which is one hour past the usual starting time. Maxey also pointed out that he never left his work at the appointed hour of 5 p.m., and in fact has been spending upwards of 70 hours on his work. "Can you justify my working 70 hours a week," asked Maxey of the mayor. "I don't think you can point to any great deficiencies in my department as a result of my teaching at San Francisco State," he said, listing numerous accomplishments of the department over the year.

The moonlighting situation was determined to be a personnel matter and dropped at that time.

From this point on Mayor Ahern continued to wield the knife, saying on more than one occasion that Maxey's budget was by far "higher than anyone else's."

Maxey's budget request, incidentally, was $753,882, compared with the current budget of $623,383. This budget also includes a new swimming pool, the operation of which is estimated at $75,126 by Maxey.

The mayor also said it would be necessary to delete a request for an administrative assistant from the city manager's budget.

City Manager Tom McKenzie made no attempt to argue the need for the man, saying, "Fine, okay." The city manager responded equally passively to the fact the mayor wanted him to get in the car pool, rather than drive his own vehicle and be reimbursed the mileage, another of the mayor's austerity moves.

So went the knife through the city manager's budget. On each item the mayor would ask McKenzie if this was really needed and the city manager would reply, "Whatever you decide is fine."

One department seeking more money, and probably will get it, is the West Park Maintenance District. Overseer John Hoffman originally asked for $39,461 but said he would probably need "another $10,000, plus" to place common greens along an until now bare area along the west side of Cork Place. Last year's budget was $29,647.

According to Hoffman, developer Snyder and Company has accelerated its building program, "which means more common greens."

Homeowner president Don Gamma assured the councilmen that the residents in the area were "unhappy" because of the slowness attached to getting common greens, and probably would be willing to be taxed extra if they could be assured of obtaining the desired lawns.

The West Park Maintenance District, incidentally, is paid for entirely by residents of West Park and not by other city residents.

Skyline Expects 2100 Enrollment

More than 2,100 day-time college students are expected to be part of the Skyline College scene beginning this coming fall term. This is a jump of more than 400 students over SC's initial year of operation in the '69-'70 era.

Along with the increase in the daytime enrollment, the college's evening program also will have a "population boom" projection similar to that of the day student enrollment.

Ready and waiting for both day and evening students are the following materials which they can secure at the college.

1. Schedule of Fall 1970 classes and courses — Daytime College — free.

2. Schedule of Fall 1970 classes and courses —Evening College — free.

3. 1970-1971 Skyline College catalog — 50 cents available at SC Bookstore or $1 when purchased through mail.

4. Applications for Admission to Skyline College, this applications must be completed and transcripts included before official enrollment and counseling can take place in the day college.

James Wyatt of Daly City, dean of students, also announced that the following personnel will be involved in the registration and counseling durinl the period of August 17 through September 3.

Counselors will be Cletus Banwarth, Rose Boche, Norman Friend, Stanley Graubart, Bernice Lawry, Mario Lombardi, Phil Meyer, Richard Smith, Harold Sweet, James Trainer, Myrtle Williams, Lila M. Crist.

Open Education Program Counselors will be Arnet Caviel and William Cornejo.

Included in the program will be the employment of six student counselor aides to assist the counselors and the students.

Miss Lela M. Crist, former dean of girls, Blackford High School, San Jose, will be Skyline College's new dean of women, Philip C. Garlington, president announced.

The San Mateo Junior College District Board of Trustees approved the recommendation and employment of Miss Crist at a recent meeting.

Tom Mohr Serramonte Vice-Principal

Tom Mohr, a Terra Nova High School counselor, last week won promotion to vice principal of Daly City's Serramonte High School.

With eight years service in the Jefferson Union High School District, Mohr will replace Paul Perez. Perez recently was transferred to Westmoor High School, also in Daly City, to serve as assistant principal for guidance and counseling.

Mohr, 35, first taught nine years ago at Riordan High School in San Francisco, moving to Oceana High School in Pacifica a year later to teach chemistry.

A year after that, he became head of the Oceana science department, a position he held until last year, when he was moved to Terra Nova as a counselor and director of student activities.

He also served last year as administrative assistant in the summer school program.

New Traffic Regulations On Mission

The Daly City Council has established new traffic regulations that will remove three parking meters along Mission Street and limit parking time to 12 minutes in two sections of the street.

Meters in front of 6770, 6025 and 6029 Mission Street were ordered removed and limited parking time established in front of 6029 and 6025 Mission.

Some merchants along the street had been complaining about the meters and asked for their removal. Others had requested the entire street be lined with parking meters.

In other traffic action, the countil established a 'No Parking' zone on the northeasterly side of Wyandotte Avenue extending a distance of some 20 feet.

Counseling Ready At Skyline College

Within a month Skyline College will be in full swing for the fall term 1970 as a crew of 12 counselors will be enrolling and counseling incoming freshmen, and returning and other new students for the day college program.

A major portion of the returning students were counseled during the past spring semester thus allowing the counselors time to work with the other students who plan to enroll at the college.

The dates for the early registration and counseling program are:

Monday, August 17 through Friday, August 21; Monday, August 24 through Friday, August 28; and Monday August 31 through Thursday, September 3. The hours for the three weeks program will be from 8 a.m. through 4:30 p.m.

However, students planning to register and enroll at Skyline College must secure and complete the applications for admission form and procedures prior to meeting with the counselor.

"It is imperative that these applications procedures be completed as soon as possible. We are prepared to serve and assist the prospective student. However, our counselors must have the necessary information, transcripts, and essential materials if the student is to select the correct program," Rex Butler, associate dean, admissions and registration, declared.

Butler emphasized that Friday, August 7 is the deadline for completion and receipt of applications for admission to the day college and that Tuesday, August 11 is the final date for receipt of transcripts from high schools and other colleges and universities.

Evening college registration occurs on the first meeting of the particular class this coming fall term.

For further information about applications and registration at Skyline College call the college from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. daily, or write to Skyline College, 3300 College Drive, San Bruno 94066.

St. Martin's Anniversary

St. Martin's Episcopal Church, Daly City, will celebrate its fifteenth anniversary on July 24.

Millbrae Streets And The Future

Where does Millbrae want to go?

Does Millbrae want to go hand-in-hand into the rosy future with San Francisco International Airport? Or, does the city want to face some other direction?

These are basic questions which must be decided, City Planners agreed Monday, before any work can be done on a proposed "streets and highways plan."

When the highways and streets scheme is worked up, they said, the city's 1965 Master Plan must also be reworked, or replaced.

In a chatty mood after the regular Planning Commission business was taken care of, commissioners talked about the City Council's request for commentary on a proposed hiring of an outside consulting firm to make up a new streets and highways master plan.

City councilmen had run into a snag when they reviewed proposals for a Millbrae Avenue railroad overpass, and realized they did not know whether traffic should be shunted beyond El Camino, fed to Skyline, or what. The streets planning scheme was considered, but held up for lack of funds.

Monday, Planning Advisor Harold Atkinson commented that a street's master plan is going to have to be developed along with the land use master plan, because land use depends on access, and utilization of streets depends on land use.

Chairman Eugene Morasoli said he would write Mayor Bill Glang a letter, outlining this position, while planners consider which way the city should grow, in the next 30 years or so.

Commissioners had already shown they prefer a pretty girl to the usual, run of the presentation, applicant.

Ellen Rudowski, a co-owner of Contac Employment Agency at 800 El Camino Real, had no trouble getting approval for a sign to be installed on her place of business, although she showed no detailed drawings.

Commissioners agreed she should have her sign, although previous drawings had become lost in a welter of confused actions, if she'll bring in a new set.

The commission approved a face sign for Olsen's car wash at 250 El Camino Real, although it will be only 2.5 feet from the ground level, instead of 10. They noted it will be no hazard to traffic.

Commission members granted permission for QRS Neon to install a free-standing sign at Lonnie's Southern Kitchen, 195 El Camino Real.

They agreed on a temporary use permit to allow Underground Construction Company to maintaiin an office and storage yard behind the San Francisco Water Department, while building a new pipeline.

An application by designer Neil Vannucci for permission to expand a home with only a four-foot sideyard setback, was approved after Planner Atkinson described it in some of the most flowery language ever to grace Millbrae City Hall.

Atkinson noted that Vanucci's one-room addition included a "square," one of the most basic artistic comments, a "trinity" of side windows, a sacred concept in art, and "seven steps," which he also said were also revered in artistic history.

Architectural advisor "Woody" Mansergh jokingly suggested Atkinson was "overstepping his bounds," and said the simple design was actually an incomplete, and routine, drawing.

After describing the design to the satisfaction of bemused commissioners, Vannucci won his approval.

S.S.F. Firm Ships Chip Machines

Installation of three giant potato chip cooker systems, designed and built in San Mateo County, has been completed this week at major European and United Kingdom food plants, it has been announced by Clark K. Benson, president of Heat and Control, Inc. in South San Francisco.

The new units, believed to be the largest production potato chip cookers ever manufactured, soon will be in full operation at Sweifel-Pomy Chips, Ltd., Zurich, Switzerland, S. A. Flodor of Flocort, France, and Meredith & Drew of Teesside, England. Each system converts seven tons of raw potatoes into 3200 pounds of finished potato chips every hour. Complete production equipment installed with the cookers includes potato hoppers, peelers, slicers, washers and salting units.

Long noted as a major producer of fryers and cookers for U.S. food processors, Heat and Control now finds expanded demand for its equipment throughout Europe, Benson reports. Projected sales to overseas food companies are expected to exceed $2 million annually within the next three years. The firm's cooking systems have been operating for several years at food plants in Italy, Spain, Sweden, Denmark and Norway. Recent installations also have been made in Australia, Canada, Japan, South America and the Caribbean area.

Accident Is Investigated

A San Bruno motorist was under investigation Monday on felony drunk driving charges after his car slammed into the rear of another vehicle at the corner of Junipeo Serra Boulevard and Knowles Avenue shortly after midnight Sunday, Daly City police report.

Gilbert Lopez, 43, of 3311 Fasman Street, San Bruno received a gash on the forehead in the accident. He was treated at Mary's Help Hospital.

THE PUBLIC HAS a right to know what goes on in THEIR city government. But with each passing day it becomes increasingly harder for the public to get information on certain "inside" meetings. Take what happened in South City the other p.m. for instance.

At their usual bi-weekly public study session, four councilmen arose and went into a separate room for what City Manager Tom McKenzie described as a "personnel session," apparently to interview a person for a post in the Housing Authority.

Although the closed door session was NOT convened during a regular, adjourned, special or special-adjourned council meeting City Attorney John Noonan pooh poohed Our Source's fears that perhaps there might be the teensiest doubt about the legality of the meeting.

Councilman Frank Bertucelli, when pressed for an explanation about the method in which the get together was called, informed an inquisitive newsman: "If you think it's a violation of the (Ralph M.) Brown Act take it to the D.A. and press charges. Do something or get off the pot." If past experience in such matters is any indication of what will be done, we think we'll just get off the pot.

THE WORD IS OUT that if South City's firemen do not get that 56-hour week they are arguing for they will withdraw their support of the much discussed Westborough Overpass thing that comes before voters on September 15. What's even worse they threaten to withdraw support from councilmen William Borba and Patrick Ahern's next election campaign. Borba and Ahern don't seem particularly worried about the latter threat — they've both got four years to go on their present terms.

GOT SOME COUPONS you don't know what to do with? Daly City Police (90th and Sullivan avenues) are asking folks to send in Betty Crocker cake mix coupons to be forwarded to the University of Calif. Medical Center for purchase of desperately-needed kidney machines. Only takes 800,000 of the coupons so get in there and bake, bake, bake. And if you don't know how to bake, buy the mix and have a policeman bake it for you! Whatsa matter, you never heard of a Cop Cake?

WHILE WE'RE ON the subject of "Cops." This newspaper has a standing no no on the use of the abbreviation of the old "Copper." Actually cops don't mind being called "cops." They do mind being called another three letter word — pig — and try to smile off the label by having porkers for mascots, buying little piggy tie tacks, etc. But the fact remains: no one wants to be called a "pig." Frankly speaking, police officers do not deserve the title. It's the other way around: Those mental midgets who label our lawmen as pigs are the ones who could stand some cleaning, they are the ones wallowing around in mud.

There's only one thing that stands between everything you own, love and cherish and that is NOT the law alone, rather the law and the devoted departments of men who enforce it. I couldn't agree less with those who call our law enforcement officers "pigs," unless of course they mean "Police Is Good."

BIG TROUBLE IN THE D.C. police department — trouble making a choice for the next lieutenant from among four outstanding sergeants — John Kolbmann, Dennis Sheehy, James Doran and Bob Ingbrigtsen. This is one time when even The Shadow doesn't know which one gets to pin the bars on.

GLAD TO SEE that longtime eyesore that existed in the Hoffman-Lisbon street area has been cleaned up after much prodding by Daly City Powers. First letter to clean up the conglomeration of wooden boxes, flower pots and whatall went out to the responsibles (see how cleverly we keep the names out?) on April 21 this year. But the complaint was first investigated back in September 1969. The wooden structures on the property were in such disrepair a fire inspector said they created a hazard to several apartment buildings adjacent to the area.

THE SHADOW KNOWS that three D.C. councilmen — including mayor Bud Lycett — received surprises in their mail following a news article in this newspaper concerning some senior citizens who supplement their diets with cat food. The surprise? Labels from cat food cans! NOT a very funny joke if indeed some of our senior citizens are this bad off as citizen Julius Castelan charged at a council study session some weeks back.

INSIDE SCOOP after looking into my crystal ball — Odds are that the controversial D.C. business license tax will be passed, after being whittled down a bit. Whispers around business circles in town are that the gross receipts portion of the ordinance, which would increase some license fees more than 1,000 per cent, will either be chopped off for more study or reduced so the bite won't hurt as much. The same goes for other sections. Even with this "watered down" version there are some merchants who take opposition to being hit with anything over the present $18 per year charge — a charge that is the same as it was in 1924.

GEORGE BESS (left) and Delia Casillas (right) are two of 54 high school-age tutors participating in the Daly City Latin Heritage Program at Colma Intermediate School. They are shown working with Reyna Morales and Ralph Ruiz. According to Mrs. Julia Monares, director of the school for bilingual and bicultural instruction, 65 pupils are being taught both English and Spanish. Instruction also includes reading, math and cultural arts (which Mrs. Monares said includes Latin dances, names of Latin foods, for instance). Tutors are paid $1.45 an hour, with funds provided by OEO and Neighborhood Youth Corps. Children's ages range from three and one-half years to 12. "A lot of them know English perfectly," Mrs. Monares explained, "but they don't know Spanish because it isn't spoken in the home." They know the culture on the other hand, since it is practiced in the house. Some, too, speak only Spanish. A Latin Heritage Program "fiesta" is set for July 22, during the 6:30-9 p.m. open house. Christ And Humor

SAMUEL CHANDLER

Daly City Librarian

ONCE A FOUR-YEAR OLD BOY who was listening to his father, an eminent professor of philosophy, read from the seventh chapter of Matthew's Gospel, when suddenly he began to laugh. When questioned by his father, the boy revealed that he was laughing because it was funny to think of a man with a beam in his eye trying to remove a speck from someone else's eye.

This led the father, Dr. Elton Trueblood, to watch for humor in the accounts of the life and teachings of Jesus Christ. For the first time he came to realize that Jesus had a large enough sense of humor to carry him through many ticklish situations.

Dr. Trueblood found Jesus using preposterous analogies in his teaching — a camel passing through an eye of a needle for example. He found Jesus to be the master of irony, of the quick retort, of exaggeration, of the tall story. He saw him smiling at the woman at the well, at John the Baptist and at the Gentile woman. He saw him smile at the frustration of his enemies as he stooped to write in the sand rather than fall into the trap they had set.

In the humor of Jesus, Dr. Trueblood found a gentle quality, never harsh, never bitter never out of place or taken at the expense of another person. Some of the humor of it, he writes, we have lost in translation. Some of it we fail to recognize in our piety and in our own lack of humor.

WITH HIS HUMOR, "Christ served the cause of true religion by exposing the pompous person whose profession far exceeds his practice. Humor is not hostile to religion, but it is hostile, as Meredith observed to the priestly element when that, by baleful swelling, transcends and overlaps the bounds of office."

From noticing Jesus' use of humor Dr. Trueblood comes to this profound conclusion. "Any alleged Christianity which fails to express itself in gaiety, at some point is clearly spurious. The Christian is gay not because he is blend to injustice and suffering, but because he is convinced that these, in the light of the divine sovereignty, are never ultimate.

DR. TRUEBLOOD'S BOOK has been called a significant contribution to knowledge. It is worth every minute a reader spends with it. It has one weakness however, it reads like a philosophical treatise because its author does not use enough humor. Still it provides another window into the many facet personality of Jesus of Nazareth.

Fullbright's Image

JAMES HALLEY

Post-Times Columnist

Some public men are committed to principle, some devoted to consensus and others follow a vague and unpredictable course that makes it difficult if not impossible to surmise their fundamental motivations.

Senator J. William Fulbright at first glance appears to be a man of true grit. As chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, he has created an image of steadfast opposition to the Vietnam war and everything about it.

A Rhodes scholar with a charming Southern accent, he calmly and explicitly gives reasons for his positions. They sound both grand and intellectually plausible. Images being what they are, the Senator oozes an aura of principled conviction and invites support or admiring opposition.

But, as we have so often seen, image and actuality often differ. The Senator is a part of history, and his statements are a part of history. Consideration of that history is most informative. The Tonkin Gulf Resolution was passed in August of 1964 and was only 500 words long. It gave the President sweeping authority and included the following language:

"To take all necessary measures to repel any armed attack against the forces of the United States and to prevent further aggression . . .

"The United States is therefore prepared, as the President determines, to take all necessary steps, including the use of armed force, to assist any member or protocol state of the Southeast Asia collective defense treaty requesting assistance in defense of its freedom."

No Rhodes scholar was needed to understand the nature of this blank check. It was adopted by the House of Representatives by a vote of 416-0 and in the Senate was opposed by only two senators.

Senator Fulbright was the Floor Leader for the Tonkin Gulf Resolution in the Senate. Later, after alluding to an atmosphere of urgency, he had this to say:

"I myself as chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, served as floor manager of the Southeast Asia resolution, and did all I could to bring about its prompt and overwhelming adoption. I did so because I was confident that President Johnson would use our endorsement with wisdom and restraint. I was also influenced by partisanship: an election campaign was in progress and I had no wish to make any difficulties for the President in his race against a Republican candidate whose election I thought would be a disaster for the country."

On June 15, 1965, Fulbright spoke on the Senate floor about South Vietnam. His words are astonishing:

"I am opposed to an unconditional American withdrawal from South Vietnam, because such action would betray our obligation to people we have promised to defend, because it would weaken or destroy the credibility of American guarantees to other countries, and because such a withdrawal would encourage the view in Peiping and elsewhere that guerrilla wars supported from outside are a relatively safe and inexpensive way of expanding Communist power."

Subsequently, Fulbright assumed a new posture and opposed both the war and the Tonkin Gulf Resolution. Finally, this last month came his chance to defeat the blank check.

But a strange thing then happened. The Nixon administration decided to rely on the Constitutional powers of the Commander in Chief as established in the Constitution and to support repeal of the Tonkin Gulf Resolution. An Administration friend, Senator Dole (a freshman from Kansas) proposed the repeal.

So, after years of puling, pulling and posturing, Senator Fulbright's pet project came to fruition. The offending resolution was repealed by an 81 to 10 vote. It would have been 82 to 9 if the Senator had voted with his own apparent convictions. As events have it, he voted against the repealing motion because the manner in which it was offered was "meaningless."

To further confuse things, last week the Senate again repealed the resolution. This time, Senator Fulbright joined the majority, apparently impressed that this vote was for some strange reason meaningful.

All of this boggles the mind. Is our Rhodes scholar motivated by politics, principle or pique?

Letters to the Editor

Editor, The Post:

On May 25, a public hearing was held in San Bruno City Hall and in a split vote of 3-2, Phase 1 of the proposed Housing Element was shelved. Many of us had waited from early February for this decision.

Within a couple of days a member of the planning commission wrote a letter asking for a joint meeting with the city council, for a reconsideration of the vote. He pointed up that it was possible that our city might not get an $80,000 sum from the government, to upgrade the sewage facility if public housing was not approved.

Many of us find this remark questionable as we know it is possible to apply for this nominal sum, without becoming bogged down in such a giant project as they envisio'n. Therefore, we urge the council to tackle the sewage situation as a separate item.

Now for the turn of events which followed William Cox's letter. In a caucus session prior to the council meeting, June 8, Councilman George Corey made a motion for "reconsideration of the vote of May 25." His intentions were challenged by Councilman Dick Griffith.

Later, in public discussion in the main chamber, the city attorney said "he did not think a reconsideration could be made, that the matter must be brought up again from scratch." In the meantime he checked his code book and decided that Councilman Corey could make the motion. The vote was thus reversed when newly-elected Councilman Ted Long switched his vote.

And so, our elected council surrendered its legislative authority. Soon the writing of the "administrative policy" will take place, which will of course make mass housing a definite requirement if the city hopes to get federal funds.

A "hearing" has been set for August 24. We should like to have a joint meeting of the council and planning commission before that date, and we would hope the taxpayers of San Bruno would be allowed to participate in a public discussion. Many people would have come to city hall June 8 had they known such an unprecedented maneuver was to take place.

I appreciate the honest and factual reporting of W. E. Thomas of The Post, in the June 17 edition of that paper, page 16, re; my statements at the board meeting of the Jefferson Elementary School Disrict on Tuesday, June 9.

In a democratic society, one must look to the press for the airing of views contrary to or critical of those of elected or hired public officials. The Post is doing a splendid job in that respect.

The 'Old' Outdoors Games Gone

It may be an effect of the affluent society, or the invasion of toyland by technology, but one rarely sees children these days playing the outdoor games that delighted other generations. Years ago dry weather brought out boys with their tops and the fun started.

An amazing amount of surplus energy was used up in making that round piece of wood spin the faster on the sidewalk. Perhaps modern psychologists would contend that in spinning a top a boy was expressing latent aggressiveness. Most contemporaries prefer to think he was just getting healthful exercise, as were the girls who were busily skipping at the same time.

When boys grew weary of tops they played marbles. The concentration was amazing to see.

Except for the very young, the scooter is no longer a means of self-propelled transportation, as it was for boys and girls of other times. The scooter has been usurped by the bicycle, which often has a horn, mirror, lighting set and several gears, while its rider pedals to tunes from a transistor radio on handlebars.

It is all marvelous, but few adults waste time wondering whether children today get more fun than their parents did from play. They know.

Locked Cars Broken Into

(This is a series of articles, published bi-weekly, and including suggestions on how to prevent crime by pointout specific crime problems and areas . . . and by answering questions asked every day relative to police service.

(Though the statistics and specific areas relate this week to San Bruno, whose police department has prepared the article, the same situations could be encountered in other Northern San Mateo County communities, and the same precautions taken.—editor.)

AUTO BURGLARY — The breaking into of locked autos is on the increase in our community. In the first three months of 1970, 48 vehicles were broken into and property removed. The majority of these incidents occurred during the dark hours. The most frequent objective of the thief is the car auto stereo which is usually affixed to the underside of the vehicle's dashboard, plainly visible from outside the vehicle.

PREVENTION — The removal of a temptation will usually avoid attempts to break into a car. One major suggestion relative to auto stereo thefts is to conceal them, either in the glove compartment or under the right front seat, bolted to the floor. The next step is to conceal indications of the auto stereo's presence by painting the speaker covers to match the vehicle's interior or to position the speakers in locations not noticeable from outside of the vehicle.

Other indicators of an auto stereo's presence are the tape decks left loose on the car seats or in boxes open to view from outside the vehicle. These items should be hidden from plain view to avoid further temptations. Auto stereos can be affixed to the dash board by installing wing nuts instead of bolts which allows removal of the unit with the aid of a coupling electrical plug.

The stereo can be removed or re-installed in seconds.

THE TWO MAIN MEANS of entry into locked vehicles are by breaking the wing window or fishing for the interior lock button with a coat hanger by forcing it past the window and frame. The purchase of a none flanged interior lock button would help avoid being victimized by the coat hanger fishing method. These straight buttons can be purchased for less than the price of one tape deck and they are cheap insurance.

"I WAS INVOLVED in a traffic accident in which the other driver ran a red light, he admitted to it, yet the officer didn't write him a ticket when he arrived." Traffic citations are issued to people who commit infractions in the officer's presence.

Since the officer did not see the other party run the red light nor see the accident occur, he cannot issue a traffic citation. The officer will investigate the accident and submit the results of his investigation to the District Attorney who will, after reviewing the matter, issue a complaint against the party who is believed to be in violation if it appears to the Attorney that the issuance is warranted. The complaint will be filed in the Municipal Court and the violator will be summoned to answer the charges.

(QUESTIONS ABOUT the San Bruno Police Departments operations and procedures as well as any questions related to crime may be answered by writing to Chief Russell J. Cunningham, Civic Center, San Bruno, 94066. Questions and answers will appear in future columns.)

Holdup Spree Nets 2; Third Youth Sought

Police in Hayward early on Friday arrested two South San Francisco teeners — a girl and a boy — on charges of armed robbery and auto theft after a whirlwind tour involving hijacked taxis in Daly City, San Mateo and Hayward, and a stolen car in South San Francisco.

Another boy who police say is involved in the spree is still at large.

The two young men apparently pulled almost identical routines in Daly City, San Mateo and Hayward, with the girl driving the getaway car. They were finally foiled in the East Bay city when the cabbie they were trying to rob, Leslie Aquaio of Oakland, pulled over when he spotted a police car and started to honk his horn.

Apprehended by the Hayward officers were Keith Gunells, 18, and a teen-aged girl, both of South San Francisco.

San Mateo police said that taxi driver Louis F. Ardito, 210 Acacia Avenue, San Bruno, received a call about 1 a.m. to pick up two fares at the Happy Host Restaurant in Belmont. The two young men told the driver they wanted to go to 128 Fifteenth Avenue, San Mateo.

But on the way there, one of the youths pulled out a "target type" air pistol. Ardito's cab was taxijacked.

They cut the microphone in the cab and took about $15 in cash — all Ardito had. Then they directed him to the center of the block on Fifteenth Avenue, between Palm and South Boulevard. A light green getaway car pulled up, and the two suspects fled, with the car driven by a third.

Police said that the small green vehicle matched the description of one stolen from South San Francisco earlier in the day, and later recovered in Hayward.

In Daly City, Yellow Cab Company driver Marvin H. Ahrenkiel, 50, was called to the Westlake Bowling Lanes on Southgate Avenue shortly after midnight this morning to pick up two male youths.

He was directed to drive the pair to an address in South San Francisco. However, when the cab approached the corner of Junipero Serra Boulevard and D streets, the two young men jumped the cab driver and robbed him of $15 before ordering him to proceed to the corner of King Drive and Gellert Boulevard in the Serramonte section of the city.

One of them was armed with a knife and his accomplice brandished a gun, Ahrenkiel told officer George Carleton.

A small foreign-make sedan was waiting in the 800 block of Gellert Boulevard for the pair who sped away from the scene with a third party at the wheel, Carleton said.

In Hayward, the two again pulled a knife and an air pistol on a taxi driver, and again got almost the identical amount of money — $20 — but this time the cabbie spotted a police car and one youth and a girl were nabbed.

Paper Drive Planned At San Bruno

"Save your newspapers for the big paper drive July 25," San Bruno Vice-Mayor Ted Long advises. "We've got to stop passing the buck."

Students and non-profit organizations are invited to take part in the first of a series of city-wide paper drives. All funds collected will be divided among the non-profit groups that participate in the collection of tied newspapers or newspapers put in shopping bags.

"We have to start somewhere," Long explained. "Incineration may be the answer and it may not be the answer. The only sure way to solve the pending refuse crisis is by re-cycling or elimination."

Along with Women's Division Chairman Mrs. Donna Elliot and Student Division Chairman Bob Cochran, Long is appealing to all San Bruno residents to save their newspapers for the city-wide drive on July 25.

"We are presently establishing neighborhood depots for the newspapers to be dropped," Vice Mayor Long explained. "From the neighborhood depot, we will caravan the newspapers into San Francisco to be recycled."

Persons wishing to participate in the July 25 paper drive may call the San Bruno Chamber of Commerce.

Nautical Moonraker Offers Plus Values

Nick Gust, owner and operator of the Moonraker Restaurant at Rockaway Beach, Pacifica, is offering one of the finest of dining selections in this scenic spot overlooking the Pacific. With a decor that is authentically nautical, the Moonraker offers all the plus values: good food, atmosphere, mouth-watering cuisine, the organ music of Don Kelly Wednesday through Sunday . . . Donald Devoto, general manager of the Hilton Inn, San Francisco International Airport, announces that the hotel's new Terrace Room will have its grand opening soon. An elegant banquet and meeting facility, the Terrace Room will offer a panoramic view of the entire airport complex. It will be available for private parties, banquets, and meetings and can seat up to 250 persons . . . After a recent fire incident, Foster's Farm-Fried Chicken House, located across from Hillsdale Shopping Center, is now open and serving from 7 a.m. For something really special, order the Individual Chicken Pie (with flaky pastry crust and rich gravy), served with rolls, honey, coffee and topped off with a Wild Blackberry Sundae — all for $1.75. Manager Wilfred Caldwell reminds Senior Citizens of Foster's special menu just for them. A different entree featured Monday through Friday from 11:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. And the low price is $1.25 (present your Medicare Card).

Phil Lehr's Steakery in downtown San Francisco, within easy walking distance of the Curran Theater, is a convenient dinner stop for ticketholders to the Civic Light Opera presentation of "Zorba." It's easy, one-stop parking for both dinner and the show . . . Park Avenue Tours features daily departures from San Francisco, San Jose, Oakland, and other Bay Area and valley Greyhound Bus Depots. Special Greyhound Bus charter groups are also arranged for overnighters. Barney's Casino and South Tahoe Nugget are Park Avenue Tours "bonus points." Generous refunds await your Nevada arrival . . . Prime ribs of beef, steaks, Jumbo Lobster Tail, baby ribs, chicken and Beef Brochette Flambee are all part of the wonderful menu at Scotty Campbell's in Redwood City. An added touch of color to the tailored but hospitably warm dining room are kilt-clad waitresses . . . The crew at Vince's Italian and Sea Food restaurant is back in the swing again (vacation time being over) and who could be happier than Vince's luncheon and dinner regulars! Today's Luncheon Special is Veal Parmigians (served with choice of clam chowder or minestrone soup or luncheon salad, and coffee). Other enticers are Spaghetti an Italian Sausage, Veal Cutlet-Spaghetti, Ravioli and Meat Sauce, and Luncheon Omelette.

Harry James' fast-paced show is currently appearing in the Harolds Club Fun Room in Reno. The popular band leader brings with him the master of dialects, Dink Freeman, and vocalists Cathy Chemi and Glenn Raye. James and his horn share the spotlight with his band members in such numbers as "Sentimental Journey," with Corky Corcoran on the clarinet; "A-Train" with Gus Bivona on the saxophone and clarinet and Jack Watson on the baritone sax; and "Opus One" with Corcoran on the sax. Shows are at 9 p.m. and midnight each night, with a special 2:30 a.m. show every Saturday night . . . With the introduction of dancing to the Jimmy Vann Band six nights a week in Hugo's Bistro at Hyatt House Burlingame this week, there has been a double amount of activity going on at this busy complex popular with travellers and localities, alike. Adding to the entertainment bill from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m. is Hank Faulkner on guitar. Playing for dinner dancing in Hugo's Restaurant every Saturday night is the ever popular George Cerruti . . . Diners respond warmly to Tino's hospitality, charm and cuisine. It's easy to understand why Peninsulans regard this San Mateo European restaurant as one of their favorites. Dinner may be a la carte or full course. The main course could be one of the chefs' Continental successes.

The Sinaloa Mexican cantina (in North Beach) is an exciting spot for Mexican entertainment and food. Try any one of their menu specialties — you will not be disappointed . . . Doros, the Holiday Magazine award-winning lunch and dinner haven in San Francisco, will reopen Monday after a two-week vacation for Don and Dolph Dianda and their entire staff. Sugar 'n Spice

Good morning, good cooks.

Just recently I was looking through a beautiful recipe book put out by the Knox Gelatin Company of Johnstown, N.Y. I've had it for some time and have used it frequently. I can surely recommend it to you good cooks. Here are some samples of it's contents.

LEMON PUFF PIE

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
2-3 cup sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
¾-cup water
1 (6-oz.) can frozen concentrated lemonade
1 cup icy cold evaporated milk, whipped
1 9-inch coconut pie crust

1—Mix the package gelatin, two-thirds cup sugar and one-eighth teaspoon salt thoroughly in saucepan.

2—Add the three-fourths cup water and place over low heat and stir until gelatin is dissolved.

3—Remove from heat and stir in undiluted concentrate. Chill, stirring occasionally until mixture mounds slightly when dropped from spoon.

4—Fold into the whipped evaporated milk. Turn into coconut pie crust and chill until firm.

COCONUT PIE CRUST

3 tablespoons butter
1½ cups flaked coconut (about 4 ounces)

Melt the three tablespoons butter in a 10-inch skillet. Add the one and one-half cups flaked coconut and stir over medium heat until coconut is golden brown. Press mixture firmly on bottom and sides of 9-inch pie plate. Let stand at room temperature until cool.

Attention all chocolate lovers! This is for you — a sheer bit of goodness you'll want to whip up often.

CHOCOLATE CHIFFON DESSERT

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
½ cup sugar, divided
⅛ teaspoon salt
⅜ cup cocoa
3 eggs, separated
1½ cups milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
Whipped cream

1—Mix the envelope gelatin, one-fourth cup sugar (save the remaining fourth cup for egg whites), one-eighth teaspoon salt and one-third cup cocoa in the top of double boiler.

2—Beat the three egg yolks and one and one-half cups milk together. Add to the gelatin mixture.

3—Cook over boiling water, stirring constantly until gelatin is dissolved, about 5 minutes.

4—Remove from heat and stir in the teaspoon vanilla. Chill to unbeaten egg white consistency.

5—Beat the egg whites until stiff. Beat in the remaining one-fourth cup sugar.

6—Fold chocolate gelatin mixture into egg whites.

7—Turn into 4 cup mold or individual molds. Refrigerate until firm. Unmold on serving plate and garnish with whipped cream.

Eight servings.

Dear me. It seems there was an error in last week's Canadian Lemon Bread recipe. My reason for repeating the amounts in the method of mixing is to give an added check on the amounts. So that when you read the method, if the amounts don't agree with the listed ingredients . . . call Bev at the paper. She has an original copy of my column and can give you any information you need.

CANADIAN LEMON BREAD

½ cup shortening
2 eggs, beaten
½ teaspoon salt
1½ cups flour
1 teaspoon baking power
1 cup sugar
½ cup milk
Grated rind of one lemon
Juice of one lemon
¼ cup sugar
(Bake 350-degrees for one hour)

In mixing bowl blend the half cup shortening and two beaten eggs. Sift together the half teaspoon salt, one and one-half cups flour, one teaspoon baking powder and one cup sugar. Add to the egg mixture along with the half cup milk. Mix well. Stir in the grated lemon rind and pour into greased loaf pan. Bake 350-degree oven for one hour.

Meantime, combine the juice of one lemon with the fourth cup sugar and mix well. When you take the cake from the oven, spoon the lemon glaze over the top so the juice will soak in as the cake cools. Cool completely and serve sliced thinly and buttered.

A SPECIAL PROGRAM was offered North County horse enthusiasts at the newly-relocated Coastside Corral on Cape Breton Road at the end of Oddstad Boulevard in Pacifica over the weekend. A host of dignitaries from the community turned out for not only the usual ribbon-cutting event, but for three days of such things as jackpot barrel racing, silver buckle team roping, a gymkhana, an "educated horse," girls' steer daubing, and live music. At the performers was the Coastside Corral Girls' Drill Team.

Sheep And Steers For Sale At Fair

Over 100 steers and nearly 250 sheep will be up for sale at the annual 4-H and FFA Livestock Auction to be held at the San Mateo County Fair and Floral Fiesta on August 6.

Urged on by the rapid-fire delivery of auctioneer Billy Lefty, who will return to the Fair again this year, and the pleas of 4-H and FFA youngsters, buyers spent a record $45,062.78 at last year's sale.

Although the Grand Champion steer was sold for $220 per pound, the average selling prices were only 65 cents (steer) and 82 cents (sheep) per pound.

The difference between these prices and the market price for beef and lamb is what enables the members of 4-H and FFA to continue raising market animals.

According to Fred Kleppe, chairman of the Livestock Auction Committee, the public can participate in the auction in three ways.

First, everyone is eligible to bid in person at the auction or have a member of the Sales Committee do the bidding. Another way of purchasing an animal is to use the "Ringside Purchase Card" which is available through Mrs. Bea Karengin at the San Mateo County Fair and Convention Association, P.O. Box 1027, San Mateo.

This card provides space to list the specifications the potential buyer wishes to be followed.

The final means of aiding the youngsters in the 4-H and FFA programs is by donation. This

Fresh Apricots Are Foundation Of Summer Salads, Sweets, Sauces

At the height of the apricot season, the Apricot Producers of California contributed a collection of recipes based on fresh apricots. The association notes that apricots should be a golden yellow color when ripe and will reach this color at room temperature or more slowly under refrigeration.

APRICOT SALAD
(very refreshing)

3 cups ripe apricots (15-18 cots) quartered
1 cup crushed pineapple
Juice of 1 lemon
1 envelope Knox Gelatin
½ cup cold water
2 packages lemon jello
2 cups boiling water
1 cup cold water
½ pint sour cream (or lo-cal yogurt)

Dissolve Gelatin in ½ cup cold water and add to apricots, pineapple and lemon juice.

Dissolve lemon jello in the 2 cups boiling water a,dd 1 cup cold water, and combine with fruit mixture. Pour into 9 inch ring mold (oiled) and chill until firm. Unmold on bed of greens placing sour cream in center.

APRICOT HAM SALAD

1 cup fresh apricots, coarsely chopped
¼ cup each of mayonnaise and sour cream
1½ tablespoons lemon juice
¼ teaspoon prepared mustard
Salt to taste
1½ cups ham, cut into pencil-size strips
1 cup chopped celery
1 tablespoon finely chopped green onions with tops crisp lettuce.

Stir together mayonnaise, sour cream, lemon juice, mustard, and salt to taste to make a dressing. Toss lightly apricots, ham, celery, and onions in salad bowl. Arrange salad on crisp lettuce and serve dressing separately. Makes approximately 4 servings.

APRICOT COBBLER
Filling

1 poind washed, fresh apricots halved

Topping

1 cup flour
1 cup sugar
¼ cup shortening
1 egg
½ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons baking powder

Sprinkle over apricots, bake at 350 deg. for 30 minutes. Delicious served with whipped cream.

APRICOT CREAM TARTS
Crust

1 cups fine graham cracker crumbs
¼ cup sugar
½ cup (one cube) butter melted
¾ teaspoon cinnamon

Mix above ingredients. Place 12 paper cups in a muffin pan. Spoon 2 tablespoons crust mixture into each cup, pressing against sides and bottom of cup to form a firm crust. Chill until firm.

Filling

1½ cups pitted apricots cut into quarters (1 lb.)
1½ teaspoons lemon juice
¼ cup sugar
½ pint (1 cup) pastry cream

Mix apricots with lemon juice and sugar. Whip cream until stiff. Fold in apricot mixture and spoon into graham cracker crusts piling it high. Chill until serving. Serve in cups or remove just before serving. (May be frozen for future use.) Makes 12 tarts.

APRICOT FROZEN TORTE

2 cups chopped fresh apricots
1 to 1¼ cups sugar
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
1 cup coarse macaroon crumbs

Add sugar and lemon juice to apricots. Fold in whipped cream. Place ½ of crumbs in bottom of 1 quart refrigerator tray and pour in apricot mixture. Top with remaining crumbs. Freeze until firm. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

APRICOT CHUTNEY

1 2-3 cups granulated sugar
20 large, firm, ripe apricots, pitted and cut in pieces
2-3 cups almonds, blanched and slivered
7 sweet red peppers, seeded and chopped
3 medium-sized white onions, chopped peel and pulp of 1 orange, chopped
peel and pulp of 1 lemon, chopped
1 clove garlic, chopped fine
4 ounces chopped candied ginger
1 cup seedless raisins
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon powdered ginger
1¾ cups cider vinegar

Boil sugar with 1¼ cups of vinegar for 5 min. Add apricots, cooking for 10 min. Skim. Add peppers, onions, garlic, ginger, salt, raisin, orange and lemon peel and pulp. Cook for 30 min., stirring frequently, skimming as necessary. Add almonds, powdered ginger and remaining vinegar. Continue cooking ½ hr., stirring frequently to prevent sticking. Place in sterilized jars and seal. Makes 3 pints. Delicious served with meats or as an accompaniment with curry dishes.

GRANDMA'S PICKLED APRICOTS

Elegant accompaniment to meat and poultry (ham, turkey, roast pork, veal, lamb, roast chicken.)

7 pounds apricots (unpeeled, whole cots)
1-3 ounce stick cinnamon — about 6 pieces, 3 inches long
4 pounds sugar (8 cups) may be part or all brown sugar
Whole cloves
1 pint vinegar

Wash apricots and stick each one with two or three cloves. Boil cinnamon sticks and vinegar together. Put apricots into sirup and boil gently until soft, but not mushy, using ½ the quantity of apricots at a time. Pack into hot sterilized jars putting a piece of cinnamon stick in each jar. Seal at once.

BRANDIED APRICOTS

Add one tablespoon brandy to each pint of pickled apricots just before sealing. (These make excellent gifts.)

APRICOT JULIUS

6 pitted fresh apricots
1 whole egg
5-7 ice cubes
Sugar or honey to taste (one tablespoon)

Blend apricots for one minute in blender. Add all other ingredients and whip shortly. Produces an attractive foamy drink that is nourishing, too. Good for children who do not like eggs.

APRICOT NECTAR

1 quart apricots (fresh)
1 quart water
½ cup sugar
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Wash and pit fresh fruit. Boil fruit and water for five minutes. Strain through collander. Add sugar and lemon juice and bring to a boil again. This makes about 1½ quarts. May be canned or frozen.

Sardines Go To Seashore

For a beach cookout try this: Cover two open cans of Maine Sardines with foil and heat on grill. Now spread lightly toasted frankfurter rolls with ¼ teaspoon mustard mixed with ½ teaspoon of Gravy Master seasoning and browing sauce, two sardines, onion rings and sliced pickles. Cover and serve.

Three Distinctive Salads To Spark Appetites During Summer

Like the happy blending of notes in a musical chord, the "just right" combination of flavors and textures in foods can create dishes to sing about. Salads are no exception.

Start with the basic ingredients for many good salads — corn oil, real mayonnaise, crisp western iceberg lettuce, Combine them with complementary fruits, vegetables, meats, cheeses, herbs and spices and serve. Your family and guests will cry "encore."

Nothing sparks appetites like fresh crisp salads, nor provides the variety of vitamins and minerals so necessary for sound nutrition. Here are three distinctly different, yet equally delicious recipes to start you on the road as salad composer — maestro of salad-making.

This colorful combination of vegetables is marinated in an oil and vinegar dressing, drained, and the remaining marinade combined with real mayonnaise for a creamy dressing to accompany crisp wedges of western iceberg lettuce.

MEDITERRANEAN GARDEN TRAY

1 large head western iceberg lettuce
Herb Marinade
1½ cups cooked shrimp
1 cups sliced fresh mushrooms
1½ lb. fresh asparagus, cooked
1 can (1 lb.) garbanzos, drained
½ cup each ripe and pimiento-stuffed green olives
1 package (9 oz.) frozen artichoke hearts, cooked
Thin onion rings
½ small cucumber, sliced
1 cup cherry tomatoes
Radish roses
Carrot curls
Creamy Vegetable Dressing

Core, rinse and thoroughly drain lettuce; chill in disposable plastic bag or plastic crisper. Prepare Herb Marinade. Add about 1-3 cup of the marinade to each of the following and let chill about 1 hour: shrimp, mushrooms, asparagus, garbanzos, olives, and artichoke hearts combined with onion rings. Shortly before serving, remove outer leaves of lettuce and line tray. Cut remaining head lengthwise into halves. Place cut sides down; cut each half into thirds or quarters for 6 to 8 thin wedges and arrange on separate tray or in bowl. Cover with plastic wrap and refrigerate until serving time. Drain shrimp and vegetables, saving marinade. Arrange marinated shrimp and vegetables on tray along with cucumber slices, cherry tomatoes, radishes and carrot curls. Serve with Creamy Vegetable Dressing.

Makes 6 or more servings.

HERB MARINADE

1½ cups corn oil
½ cup garlic-flavored red wine vinegar
3 tablespoons light corn syrup
1 teaspoon fresh or dried basil
2 teaspoons seasoned salt
½ teaspoon seasoned pepper

Combine all ingredients in jar, cover tightly, and shake together to blend. Makes about 2¼ cups dressing.

CREAMY VEGETABLE DRESSING

½ cup Herb Marinade (drained from vegetables)
1 cup real mayonnaise
¼ cup each chopped green pepper and pimiento
1 tablespoon each chopped green onion and parsley

Gradually beat Herb Marinade into mayonnaise. Add green pepper, pimiento, onion and parsley, and mix well. Makes about 2 cups dressing.

Tender sweet chunks of western iceberg lettuce combine with tangy orange sections and ham roll-ups for a whole-meal salad. Serve with "Cardamom Mint" or "Chutney Orange" dressing.

MOSAIC SALAD BOWL

1 large head western iceberg lettuce
1 package (3 oz.) cream cheese
3 tablespoons chopped parsley
3 thin slices boiled ham (about 3½x6")
1 small avocado
2 large oranges, pared and sectioned
Cardamom Mint Dressing
Chutney Orange Dressing

Core and rinse lettuce; drain thoroughly; refrigerate in disposable plastic bag or plastic crisper. Soften cream cheese and mix in parsley. Spread 1-3 of the mixture over each of the slices of ham, roll up tightly and chill. Shortly before serving, cut ham rolls in ¾ inch slices. Cut avocado in halves, remove seed and skin and slice fruit. Cut lettuce into bite-size chunks by slicing head crosswise into rafts, then cutting each raft lengthwise into chunks, and place in large salad bowl with part of the ham, avocado and oranges, saving some of each for top. Arrange the reserved ham, avocado and orange in pattern over top of bowl. Pour Cardamom Mint Dressing over salad, and toss at the table (or, serve with Chutney Orange Dressing).

CARDAMOM MINT DRESSING

1 cup corn oil
1-third cup lemon juice
2 tablespoons light corn syrup
1 tablespoon chopped fresh mint (or 1½ teaspoons dried spearmint)
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon paprika
¼ teaspoon cardamom
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Combine all ingredients in jar, cover tightly and shake together thoroughly to blend. Let stand an hour or longer, then shake again before using. Makes about 1½ cups.

CHUTNEY ORANGE DRESSING

1 cup real mayonnaise
½ cup orange jucie
½ cup chopped chutney
4 teaspoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon salt

Combine all ingredients and stir well. Makes about 1¾ cups.

A crisp, crosscut of iceberg lettuce makes the "raft"; chicken, tomatoes and blanched almonds, the "cargo." A sesame-lime dresssing of corn oil, real mayonnaise, lime juice and sesame seeds tops off this variation of an Oriental favorite.

CHICKEN ALMOND SALAD

1 large head western iceberg lettuce
3 cooked chicken breasts
3 medium-size tomatoes, cut in wedges
½ cup roasted blanched almonds
Sesame Lime Dressing

Core, rinse and thoroughly drain lettuce. Chill in disposable plastic bag or plastic crisper. Remove skin and bones from chicken, and cut into generous strips. Just before serving, cut lettuce into crosswise slices, and arrange on individual serving plates. Top each "raft" with chicken strips, tomato wedges and almonds. Serve with Sesame Lime Dressing.

Makes 6 servings.

SESAME LIME DRESSING

½ cup corn oil
1 cup real mayonnaide
¼ cup lime juice
3 tablespoons toasted sesame seeds
2 tablespoons light corn syrup
½ teaspoon curry powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon grated lime peel

Gradually beat oil into mayonnaise. Blend in all remaining ingredients. Makes about 2 cups dressing.

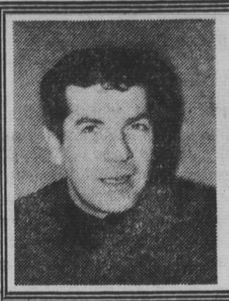
Those Guys Who Take Radios To The Game...



LE PACINI

Sportscripts

We can't imagine why,
Perhaps some reader knows,
While watching a game at Candlestick,
Fans listen on their radios.
There may be a valid reason,
But to us they have no class;
We wish they'd take their transistors,
And shove them . . . into their carrying cases.

As many be easily imagined, there is also a version of the above poem more in keeping with how we feel about people who pay a lot of money to see a baseball game in person, to perceive subtleties which can only be acquired with a constant 180 degree view of the action, to be able to analyze and reach their own conclusions, and who then dull it all with Russ and Lon and Bill and — more important — bother everybody else around them who probably came to the game to get away from radio and television for a day.

NOT THAT WE HAVE ANYTHING AGAINST Russ Hodges, Lon Simmons and Bill Thompson. We think that they're just about the best in the business. But we do believe that even THEY will admit they can never be an adequate substitute — neither they nor the TV camera (if we ever sit next to an idiot with a portable television set on his lap during a televised game, we'll dip his batteries in Candlestick's hot dog mustard) — for in-person viewing.

A hot-shot graduate psychiatry student could have a field day in his master's thesis on these people. They're paranoid. They think those radio people are trying to put something over on them. They're insecure. They need constant assurance that what they think they're seeing is actually happening.

They must make sure they're not hallucinating. They have an inferiority complex and combat it by trying to find fault in others, i.e., catching Hodges telling them that Hal Lanier made a spectacular play when it in fact was actually merely sensational.

Now, there are many rationales offered by such printed circuit fanatics, but the only one we'll buy (you see, we can be objective, are capable of empathy) is that they bring their radios because the play-by-play men offer them more information than is offered at the stadium — quicker scores of other games, reasons for rulings and unusual line-up changes, results of injuries, news bulletins from the outside world, etc.

AND THAT BRINGS US to a point that we've made for years: there's no reason why the PA man or the fancy electronic scoreboard (which Candlestick is supposed to get sometime in the next half century) can't give the same information given by radio and TV broadcasters. It does seem ridiculous, for instance, that the radio audience should know almost immediately that the star of the team is lost for the season with a broken leg, but that the people who paid maybe three bucks to see him break his leg have to wait until they get to a radio or television set after they leave the park to find out that they saw that player break his leg.

Last August, C. C. Johnson Spink, editor and publisher of The Sporting News, reprinted in his column a letter written to Commissioner Bowie Kuhn by Louis G. Guzzo, managing editor of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, which we, in turn, reprint in part:

" 'I watched several games befoe realizing that the people who run the sport haven't learned very much about showmanship or show biz in 50 years. The stadium announcer gives the fans the lineup and offers a few facts in the course of the game, but, for the most part, provides no other information.

" 'The American fan understands the game well; he doesn't have to have things spelled out for him. But he must guess what goes on in those frequent incidents involving clashes on the field; he still must guess at some of the intricate rules of the game; he still must guess at the nature of injuries, the sudden substitution, the unexplained shift of players, etc.

" 'I wrote a long letter to the president of the club (Ed. Note: the then Seattle Pilots) suggesting that the park announcer, with the help of the umpires and manager, let the fans in on some of the subtleties of the game. . . .

" 'I waited . . . Nothing happened. But it wasn't Soriano's (Ed. Note: Then Pilot president Dewey Soriano) fault . . .

" 'The reason is that the umpires won't permit most of the information to be conveyed to the crowd and the league rules won't permit the rest. . . .

" 'These are the men who owe their livelihood to the fans who ante up at the ticket windows. . . .

" 'If baseball is to survive, it has to make a great many changes . . . and give the fan more information and the entertainment he is paying plenty to see. . . .

" 'Give the fans a break. Break up the phony fraternity that pretends it's playing in Valhalla instead of just another ball park. Why don't you as commissioner do something about the silent treatment.' "

Spink agreed with Guzzo, and, obviously, so do we. But not so much for the idealistic reasons as for selfishness. As we said, we think the PA men should dispense more information. But if all that is really against the rules, we think that the least the commissioner should be willing to do is issue free ear phones to those who insist on blaring their Japanese infringements on Zenith copyrights into our weakening ear drums.

PEOPLE WHO BRING TRANSISTORS to baseball games must be the same fools who actually try to CATCH those slashing, twisting fouls hit into the stands, and who then always seem so shocked, when they do lay their hands on one, that they've broken a finger.

But we suppose there'll always be those who would play the hero for a few condescending cheers and a scuffed-up baseball, when the outlay of a couple of bucks could buy them a brand new ball, sans maiming.

That, incidentally, is how you can almost always figure who in the stands has played some baseball in his life. When one of those dangerous fouls is hit, the old ball players are ducking under their chairs.

IF THERE'S ONE THING WORSE than having a tooth extracted from one's mouth, it's having a foot extracted from one's mouth. And, besides, the after-taste is much worse.

You critics out there probably remember that a few weeks ago we wrote, "don't look for a rejuvenated Jimmy Ray Hart to appear from the depths of the minors to do a Frank Merriwell. . . ."

At the time, Hart was hitting .224 with two homers. We began to feel our foot ascending slowly toward our mouth, when, just a week later, Hart was hitting over .270 and had hit a few more homers. The next week he was over .300 with a few more homers and our toe-plate was steadily gliding past our jawbone.

Entry was completed when Jim Ray was the next week recalled, but the operation was put off temporarily when he made his debut by going hitless and pulling a couple of skulls on the field. Then, however, came that July 8 fifth inning, and we can tell you, a size nine-and-a-half Hush Puppy is hell on the lower molars.

SUDDEN THOUGHT: "Unearned" runs should be designated differently. We came to this conclusion when we read the box score of a recent game in which the White Sox beat Milwaukee, 2-1. All runs in the game scored on errors, so were thus "unearned." Which means that, according to baseball statisticians, the White Sox not only didn't deserve to win, but the game almost just as soon have not been played. Or, putting it another way, should still be going on.

The term, "unearned," is a distortion, of course. True, Al Downing of Milwaukee made an error which allowed the winning run to reach base, but Carlos May had to single that run home.

Didn't May earn that? And couldn't the batter who was safe on the error have struck out, therefore not allowing Downing the opportunity for an error? Shouldn't the batter be credited for putting the ball in play?

Perhaps a fairer designation for an "unearned" run should be something like, "OP" (Oponent Assisted) "HAW" (Helped Along the Way).

TAG-END: Of the 13 major league games played on July 8, seven of them were decided in the last inning. Who says romance is dead?

COLMA SCHOOL
By John Jarvis

There is a full-time schedule of afternoon and evening entertainment at Colma School and everyone is invited to take part in our summer events. The recreation leader is now taking sign-ups for the ping pong and carrom tournaments. Children of all ages can enter and are urged to do so.

Volleyball is played on Tuesday and Thursday evenings. Mothers and fathers as well as children may take part. Competition is needed for such stars as Pete Diaz, Dan, Tom, and Mark O'Shea, Ralph Fonseca, Bonnie Howard and Etta Harper, to name a few.

Etta Harper, she was last week's "Playground Leader of the Week," so she joins a list that already includes Don Solano and Mark O'Shea to see who will be the summer's outstanding playground leader.

The leader of the week is chosen on attendance, atttiude, and participation and is Colma's highest award.

Weekly trips have been successful — All children are urged to take part. Weekly events include arts and crafts, movies, cartoons and storytelling. A watermelon eating contest and barbecues will be coming up.

An added attraction in the Colma area for seventh and eighth graders is the Casualiers Junior Teen Club.

CROCKER SCHOOL
By Michael Furtch

Recently Crocker School held a short ping pong contest on the outside courtyard during the sunny weather. First place winner in the tournament was Peter Jurand. Second place went to Dennis Sims and third place was won by Kim Ross.

The results of the Fifty States Scramble Game were "amazing". — Eleven year old contestant Willie C. McNeil Jr. was able to complete the entire scramble game in the astonishing time of 30 minutes surpassing teh record set at the grounds by an 18-year-old boy who had completed the task in one hour.

DANIEL WEBSTER
By Daniel Montelongo

The current strike-out champ at D. Webster School is Rich Ruef. He defeated Ray Bautista in the tournament.

When Patty O'Brien participates in the next jump rope contest with Jane Clabby she hopes to defeat the champ.

The Daniel Webster Softball Team has been practicing and should be ready.

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT SCHOOL
By Lloyd Perry

Physical fitness at Roosevelt is held every Monday and Wednesday at 12:30 p.m. Outstanding efforts have been put forth so far by Clay Troxler, Ralph Sands, Sue Johnson and Jade Rosengren.

F.D.R. played its first softball game against Northridge Park and lost. Outstanding batter for F.D.R. was Ralph Sands who tripled and singled.

A fishing trip is planned for any teenager who likes fishing. See the recreation leader now for more information.

JEFFERSON ELEMENTARY SCHOOL
By Ginny Cristofani

The Egg Toss proved to be a smashing success, as Jamie Johnston and Lisa Goodman missed their partner's tosses and got egg shampoos. — The eggs cracked on their heads. Everyone became suspicious that Dorian Garibaldi and Dee Dee Rivers had hardboiled their eggs, because after numerous bounces on the grass the eggs were stil uncracked. It was discovered, however, that the eggs indeed were uncooked, so they became the champion egg tossers! Runners-up were Michele Albright and Tami McCullough.

Every Friday is special events day, and all of the events for the week will be posted, beginning Monday mornings, on the door outside the multi-use room.

Good citizens for last week were Brian Rivers, Michele Albright, Carl Greifeld, and Elaine Johnson.

JEFFERSON HIGH SPORTS CLINIC
By Bob Celeste

Now that baseball is over at the Jefferson Sports Clinic, basketball is in full swing. Two teams of participants are being formed — 11 and over named the Celtics and 10 and under the Warriors. Mike Simon and John Cosmos have been outstanding for the Celtics. Joey Grambow, Mark Stanley and Jose Santiago have begun to shine for the Warriors.

There is still plenty of time to play basketball at Jefferson.

High School weight training is moving into Phase II with more vigorous weight workouts and conditioning through running takes place.

The high school conditioning program is open every day from 10-12:30 noon.

Wrestling is Monday, Wednesday and Friday, 1-2 p.m.; children's games, Tuesday and Thursday, 1-2 p.m.

LINCOLN PARK

Lincoln Park will be announcing soon results of its drawing contest. Entries are divided into younger and older children. Friday was Hobo Day on which the kids dressed up in their oldest clothes.

M. PAULINE BROWN
By Leslie Fambrini

M. Pauline Brown School finished a week of fun in the sun with a cookout and birthday celebration.

Everyone took hot dogs and marshmallows and cooked them on the school grounds.

Celebrated were the birthdays of Craig, Denise, and Susie Sariotti.

A large crowd went to the M. Pauline Brown playground to see the college softball team from U.S.F. get defeated by Pauline Brown's high school softball team, "The Flavor Grabbers."

Gregg Georgakas led his team to a victory, supported by teammates Kirk Autzen, Jeff Bipes, Gary McLane, Rocky Vaun, Darrell Kettner, Ken Whiteman, Steve Haught, John Archancet, Mike Garcia, Ernie Garcie, Dan Kunst and Ed Silicani.

Aside from the regularly scheduled games they will be playing during the week, an extra practice game against "The Babe," Jerry Erhman's team, will be played on Tuesday nights at 7 p.m.

NORTHRIDGE PARK
By Nick Nicolas

Northridge Park combined its high school and junior high school softball teams last week to defeat F. D. Roosevelt School, 7-6. The junior high team dropped a double reader to Marchbanks the same day to run their record to 1-3.

Kevin Davalos, who barely slapped the ball out of the infield, stretched it out for a homerun, on Marchbanks' errors.

Leo Biederman is the croquet champion of the boys. Placing second was Vernon; third, Kelly Gillihan; fourth, Bernard Mitchell; fifth, Floyd Mitchell; sixth, Larry Barredo.

Girls interested in trying out for the softball team at Northridge Park may try out daily at 3:30 p.m.

OUR LADY OF MERCY SCHOOL
By Peg Davenport

Never fear, something exciting is always happening at O.L.M. Last week little Michael Pappas was the main attraction. He caught his knee in a bicycle rack and had to be freed with the help of the fire department.

He wasn't hurt, and can be found again on our grounds.

Gina Tonelli is a newcomer to our playgrounds; she seems possessed with the Hula-Hoop, but always has time to stop for a game of steal-me-bacon. Last week's winners of the apple dunking contest were Brigid Modena and Peter Storman.

OLYMPIA
By Larry Becker

Olympia will stage more fun and games, including ping pong tournaments. Interested contestants should sign up with the recreation leader now.

Tommie McLaughlin and Gary Stipanich captured the first Whiffle Ball Baseball championship, as they defeated Tim Nelson and Larry the director, 7-0, in a tight 17 inning game which was finally ended on a Stipanich homer.

Individual honors went to Gary Stipanich for most homers, two; most hits went to Tommie McLaughlin, and most individual strike-outs to Jeff Borghello as he 'fanned' 12 times in three games.

In the hunch league, Stack's Crew defeated all comers as he and teammate Jimmy Matteucci swept the six game tournament. Scoring honors went to "Pistol Pete" Nelson and George "The Block" McLaughlin.

PANORAMA
By Steve Roche

For the first time this summer, Panorama was blessed with beautiful weather. The children took advantage of the weather to have water fights, with little Jimmy Bracco emerging as the holder of "Water Hog of the Week" award.

Backwards Day was held, with Bobby Wright the winner with the zaniest costume — get-up consisting of his clothes and shoes being on backwards.

The Panorama playground is having two three-man hunch leagues, one for boys under 12 and one for boys over 12. Entrants include such stars as Walt Jebe, Matt Frugoli, Bobby Cradwohl, Johnny Calonico, and Mike Folden.

The winner of Panorama's first ping pong tournament was Bill Perkins; second place went to Giselle hallare. Future events at Panorama include a strike-out tournament for boys and girls a jump rope contest, and free throw shooting contest.

Frontier Village Journey San Bruno Rec Highspot

The high spot of last week's San Bruno Recreation Department neighborhood playground program was a trip to Frontier Village. The weekly theme centered around "Westward Ho" and since the journey was too far for a covered wagon excursion, the children boarded a bus and traveled south to San Jose's Famous Frontier Wonderland.

The children spent several hours touring the facility. Among the added attractions were canoe, donkey and stage coach rides; a petting zoo, gold panning, trout fishing, train ride and a ride through an abandoned mine. The feature for the afternoon saw the local town marshall have a gun shoot-out with the town's famous rebel.

In future weeks, the San Bruno Recreation Department will schedule trips to Coyote Point, San Francisco Airport, Oakland A's game, Huddart Park, Ice Follies, Bowling and Marine World.

BETTER BUSINESS

By LORENE BEASLEY
Better Business Bureau

During the past several years a new type of operation directed toward small automotive service businesses has gained impetus in all parts of the country. This operation consists of the sale of "brokerages" for the long-term leasing of automobiles with a purchase option to the public. While all of the firms involved cannot be accused of deceptive purchases, the industry has been subject to serious question by the National Better Business Bureau due to certain activities connected with the sale of brokerages.

The owner of a filling station, a used car lot or a similar local businessman is approached by a representative with a plan for using the business for leasing new care long-term with a purchase option. This plan is usually held out as a source of large supplemental income.

Emphasis is placed on the attractiveness to the public of the purchase option and the sales pitch may include a representation that the selling prices of local new car dealers would be undercut. The businessman is pressed to pay approximately $500 for the brokerage rights which would guarantee him around $350 profit on each car leased.

Typically, the brokerage agreements are a year in duration. They fail to guarantee territory and require a certain number of leases per year for renewal. They make provision for return, if any, of the initial investment by rebates on the first several cars leased; require the maintenance of books by the local broker; for non-delivery of cars under a wide range of circumstances.

National Better Business Bureau says there have been indications of misleading statements concerning refunding the initial investment; profit potential and the competitiveness of lease-purchase prices with those of manufacturer-franchised dealers.

Other misrepresentations noted were exaggerated impressions of the extent of advertising employed; promised training and sales assistance which was not furnished; misrepresented the availability of financing for lessees; overstated the availability of new car models and speed of delivery; and falsely stated that no bookkeeping would be required of brokers.

While the deceptions have not been identified with all companies offering brokerages of this kind, evidence indicates they are wide-spread enough to warrant extreme caution by local brokers.

It is suggested that the following steps be taken before making any commitments:

1—Check the firm's reputation with your local Better Business Bureau or Chamber of Commerce.

2—Confirm the firm's central office address with the area telephone operator.

3—Check with local or state licensing agencies to see if the firm is authorized to do business.

4—Insist on a list of the company's other brokers to learn their experience.

5—Read the contract carefully to make sure it agrees with oral promises.

6—Compare quoted lease-purchase prices with those of local auto dealers.

Contract Let For Freeway

The state has awarded a contract for construction of the first unit of a new freeway in San Bruno.

The new Interstate freeway contract, awarded to Peter Kiewit Sons' Co., Concord, for $3,616,584, calls for the construction of the first unit of the eight-lane Interstate 380 freeway in San Bruno. The Route, ultimately to connect the Junipero Serra Freeway (I-280) with the Bayshore Freeway (Route 101) in the vicinity of the San Francisco Airport, became an official part of the National Interstate and Defense Highway System in December, 1968.

Limits of the present project are between 0.3-mile east of I-280 and Fourth Avenue in San Bruno.

As a part of the project, El Camino Real (Route 82) will be widened from four lanes to six lanes-divided. Channelization and lighting will be installed. This work will extend from San Bruno Avenue to Sneath Lane.

Also included in the project is construction of a 1,000-foot, four-lane bridge on the east end of the project, which will eventually carry eastbound traffic on toward the Bayshore Freeway.

This bridge, across the Southern Pacific Railroad's main line and spur tracks, will facilitate moving 3,000,000 cubic yards of earth from Skyline Ridge for future construction on this Interstate route.

A two-quadrant interchange with El Camino Real will be constructed, and the latter route will be widened from four to six lanes, divided by a 16-foot median for the 0.7-mile distance between San Bruno Avenue and Sneath Lane.

Kiewit Son's Co. was one of eight bidders on the freeway project and was allocated 290 working days for completion.

Another contract awarded involves work in San Mateo County as well as Alameda County. Awarded to Freeman-Sondgroth Construction Co. of Mountain View for $339,913, the contract calls for repairing and resurfacing sections of Route 84 and improving the shoulders for the 5.9 mile distance between the Bayshore Freeway (Route 101) and the west end of the Dumbarton Bridge in Menlo Park (San Mateo County), and between the east end of the bridge and the Toll Plaza in Newark (Alameda County).

Fire Strikes Mountain

Children playing with matches were blamed for a fire that blackened 20 acres of San Bruno Mountain on the South San Francisco side yesterday afternoon.

The Division of Forestry reported that the fire broke out shortly after 3 o'clock off of Hillside Boulevard and Lincoln Avenue.

It was the 31st fire of the year on the mountain, most of which firemen say have been started by children.

Four trucks, a bulldozer and 12 men were dispatched to the fire, which was reported under control 25 minutes after arrival.

HOLDUP

Two youths about 19 years old and armed with a small caliber handgun held up the Vista Grande market, 201 Vista grande Avenue on Friday morning and fled with an undetermined amount of money orders and cash, Daly City police report.

"It's real easy to sell cars when the customers' money can be refunded IF they are unhappy.

Return the car within 48 hours with less than 100 miles on it and all moneys are refunded.

When I can sell a VOLVO that's a well built car or a Swinger like the DATSUN coupe or pickup that sells for $1996, it makes car selling a real pleasure."

County Policy On Dump Site Is Criticized

San Bruno's Councilman Ted Long has blasted as "non-responsive, penny-wise and foolish" the county's position on letting private enterprise operate the Ox Mountain solid waste disposal site.

Long is a strong advocate of county purchase of the property, with a goal toward ultimate sanitary fill and public owned recreational land use.

"Not only will the citizens of San Mateo County be paying for the ultimate filling and increased value of the land at Ox Mountain by virtue of garbage rates," said Long, "but the county will again be contributing valuable recreational land to private interest only to find itself in a position of repurchasing it at a later date at a greater expense."

At the council of mayors meeting in San Mateo last week, County Mgr. M. D. Tarshes made a county offer to coordinate garbage disposal plans for the future.

To the questioning ecology-minded councilman from San Bruno, who pointed out the North County favors county purchase, Tarshes said the board of supervisors feel it is better to contract with a private firm rather than go to condemnation.

The San Mateo County Scavenger Company has already purchased the coastside dump site.

Long said his attack has taken "some deliberation.

But the time has come when we must begin to distinguish in our decision-making process between the apparent cost of beginning and the ultimate cost to the taxpayer in terms of the results."

He cited garbage disposal as an excellent example. "Where it appears we may save upwards of $5 to $6 a ton for disposal purposes, in effect, we end up squandering millions for future generations."

Long said that under the proposal to have the county purchase the Ox Mountain site, the county could regulate and determine disposal rates. At the end of the 10 or 20 year fill, the county would own some 2,000 acres of prime recreational land.

"Compare this with the private enterprise proposal where land initially sold to private developers at literally pennies per acre now, comes back to the taxpayer later at thousands per acre. The folly of the pretense of 'private enterprise' should be obvious to the most naive," charged Long.

"To say that we will take these dollars and buy back highly inflated recreational lands which should have been properly acquired in the first place, only to place ourselves in a position in a decade or two of passing the same buck with regard to other properties, seems to be ridiculous."

According to Long, "It is the kind of economy that the county is suggesting which has contributed to our current problem, that is, do it the cheapest way now and then pay the real cost later.

"We, of this generation, must be willing to take on this burden and face the consequences of increased cost because of the relatively poor planning and foresight of those before us," suggested Long.

S.S.F. Pool Finish Near

About 65 per cent of the work on the South San Francisco municipal swimming pool at Orange Memorial Park has been completed, according to a report of architects Yuill-Thornton, Warner and Levikow.

The revised completion date of August 10 still holds, despite the fact piping is behind schedule due to unavailability of material as a result of a teamsters' strike.

Along with the construction of the pool, City Atty. John Noonan has announced that the railroad spur track of the Southern Pacific Company has been removed and the switch has been relocated, giving access of the land to the city for parking.

Landscape Architect David Mayes presently is working on a parking plan for the pool including this land, the old tennis court area and other Southern Pacific property.

Interested In Road Project

Daly City has expressed interest in granting certain jurisdiction to the county for a road improvement project along a two-block area of Hillside Boulevard.

The county wants to widen and improve the busy roadway between Hoffman and Market streets and intends to establish a special assessment district in the area.

One block of the intended assessment district is within Daly City and officials have expressed interest, but did not commit themselves to how the project would be funded during a meeting on the matter earlier this week.

City Manager David Rowe informed the county of the council's decision but gave no expression of whether the work would be paid for from gas tax funds or assessment.
